Antioch man arrested after burglary-arson spree

Crack cocaine attributed at cause of man's six-hour crime rampage

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

Quick work by Antioch police stopped an approximately six-hour arson spree Nov. 29.

Arrested and charged with one count of aggravated arson, 10 counts of burglary and 10 counts of arson was Ricky L. Johnson, 26, of 587 Alina Terrace, Antioch.

The aggravated arson charge stems from a fire having been knowingly set which could have potentially caused serious injury or death. That charge was due to a fire having been set in the laundry room of an apartment building.

An estimated over $200,000 in damage to 10 vehicles, a carport and a laundry room of an apartment building have been linked and reportedly admitted to by Johnson.

adjacent cars. Damage to the carport itself was termed minimal by fire officials.

The second call came at 5:51 a.m.

The first call came in via 911 for three cars and a carport engulfed at 413 Orchard St., next to the under construction new police facility. Destroyed in the fire called in at 2:31 a.m. were a 1992 Plymouth, 1992 Toyota and 1990 Chevy pickup.

Efforts by firefighters prevented the flames from spreading to for a 1979 Chevy station wagon at 780 Main St.

As police were beginning to canvass the area, a 1985 Ford Tempo was spotted on fire in a parking lot within a block of the Main St. fire. Police officers were able to put out that fire with extinguishers from their squads.

While continuing to patrol the area, a 1994 Ford Station Wagon was spotted on fire at 801 Cunningham.

Two additional cars, a 1996 Dodge Neon and a 1986 Toyota, were virtually destroyed by the station wagon fire at the Cunningham location.

At about 6 a.m., Sgt. Jim Ruth heard someone screaming for help from a 12-unit apartment building at 760 Main Street. Ruth summoned fire department assistance which was able to contain the blaze to the laundry room and utility area of the building.

Antioch, along with mutual aid units from Lake Villa and Fox Lake, responded. Fire was contained to the initial room. Smoke traveled throughout the building due to the heating units being located in the same room.

Fire officials determined the laundry room blaze originated with a

Santa comes to Antioch

Santa and Mrs. Claus arrived in Antioch in a little unusual fashion.

A white carriage drawn by a Clydesdale was the mode of transportation for the Claus elders. Their arrival at the end of the 27-unit parade highlighted the annual holiday parade Nov. 26 to officially begin the season in Antioch.

Leading the Claus carriage was a dozen "reindeer" horses, each with the name of one of the selected 12. Rudolph was the leader, doubling as a miniature pony complete with red nose.

Following the parade, holiday

Finding out a person in a small northern Illinois town is your cousin. Quite a surprise? Right?

THIRD IN A SERIES

That is what has happened for Magnus Spangberg Boesen.

Magnus is an inbound exchange student through the Antioch Rotary Club. Attending Antioch Community High School (ACHS) as a junior, Magnus will turn 16 on Nov. 30. Upon returning to Denmark, Magnus will be considered graduated from high school.

It was while attending one of the club's meetings, Magnus found out he is related to Elvin Hohmen, the group's sergeant-at-arms.

It turns out Elvin's mother's sister married a Danish man name Spangsborg. They had two children, one of whom is Magnus' grandfather.

While at ACHS, Magnus is staying with three different host

Students make grade on state report card

High school scores well in most areas, but attendance is a concern

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

In a switch, Antioch Community High School received its annual Illinois School Report Card, rather than distributing them to students.

"Overall, I'm pleased," said Dr. Dennis Hockney, ACHS superintendent. "We're either at or above the state averages."

"We have to take a hard look at attendance," Hockney admits. "We're looking to improve or get a greater percentage above the meeting or exceeding state levels."

The attendance rate for ACHS had been as high as 94 percent over the past five years. The state average is 93.6 percent. Antioch's rate dropped to 90.5 percent according to the report.

The chronic truancy rate for ACHS was listed at 3.6 percent, above the state's average of 2.3 percent. A chronic truant is considered when a student is absent for 18 or more of the last 180 school days without a valid cause.

"Those are particular areas of concern," Hockney said. "I was surprised at the attendance rate. It's the lowest it has been in the past five years."

"I don't know if it's related to our having more students," Hockney said, somewhat perplexed by the source of the numbers. "It's a question we have to answer."

The background of the school's certified staff received an outstanding report. Overall, the teachers have a higher experience rate, 17.5 years to 15 years for the state average. ACHS having 67.5 percent of its teaching staff with masters degrees compared

Festival choir, band seeking donations

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

The Festival Arts of Antioch is preparing for another season of cultural and entertaining performances.

The Community Choir is getting ready for a Christmas traditional performance.

Handel's "Messiah" will be presented by the choir on Sunday, Dec. 19 at St. Peter Catholic Church in Antioch.

Plans call for the choir to perform Stainer's "The Crucifixion" next spring.

The Lakes Area Community Band plans several performances throughout the area.

Beginning in 2000, the Festival Arts of Antioch Committee intends to present a variety of art forms throughout the summer. The location of many of these performances will be the William E. Brook Entertainment Center upon its completion.

All performances by the two groups within Antioch are offered free to the public.

Donations to help offset the costs of the performances are being accepted.

A donation of $100 or more earns a sponsor listing in the programs. A donation of $99-$25 will be listed as a patron. Any other monetary donations will be accepted and listed.

Persons desiring to submit donations may do so to Festival Arts of Antioch, Inc., 601 Parkway Avenue, Antioch, IL 60002.

For questions or further information, contact Mabel Lou Weber 265-3152.

Gordy recognized as adviser of the year

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

Mike Gordy of Antioch Community High School has been honored as newspaper adviser of the year.

Gordy was honored by the Kettle Moraine Press Association (KEMPA) at its annual fall conference on the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater campus.

Last year's honoree, KEMPA board member Bob Chesney, presented Gordy with his plaque.

Selection was by a committee of KEMPA board members appointed by John Culbertson, KEMPA president.

KEMPA is an organization of approximately 100 school publications in Illinois and Wisconsin devoted to advancing high school journalism.

In Chesney's comments, Gordy's exemplary work as adviser to the award winning "Tom Tom" newspaper was cited.

Gordy was noted as a leader in the technology explosion in scholastic journalism, conducting sessions for KEMPA conferences of various types, as well as presenting at national conventions and other regional press associations.

Dr. James Love, ACHS principal, in Gordy's nomination letter commended Gordy as possessing the "leadership that has extended far beyond the newspaper earning awards and recognition."

Love observed Gordy's newspaper is "student run and organized...and reports on school, local and national issues with a high level of accuracy and integrity."

Mark Thompson, a fellow ACHS journalism teacher with Gordy, characterized Gordy as "a truly outstanding adviser who is able to help his

Antioch Upper Grade School hosts Christmas Teen Canteen on Dec. 3

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ

The monthly Teen Canteen is planned for Antioch Upper Grade School (AUGS) on Dec. 3.

This month's theme is Christmas Party/Gift exchange.

Pop will be the main focus of the music selections.

A basketball dribbling contest is planned.

Students attending the party are requested to bring a gift valued at no more than $5. The gift should be marked for a boy or girl. Girl gifts go to girls, boy gifts to boys. Students unable to bring a gift will not be able to play in that particular game.

The same dress code followed for the regular school day is expected for the canteen.

The canteen runs from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Students are reminded they are not allowed to leave the school premises without approval. Parents are asked to arrive at 9 p.m. as students are not allowed to call parents for rides.

The January canteens are Millennium Night on Jan. 7. A jump rope contest is planned. Futuristic far out fashions is the recommended dress.

Hollywood Theme Night is planned Jan. 21. A talent show limited to the first five acts to sign up is planned. Break dance and dress as your favorite star are planned.

Mary Ellen Casey is the PTO representative coordinating the Teen Canteens.

Holiday season brings plenty of activities

The busy times of the holiday season are upon us. Various holiday musicals, concerts, plays and pageants keep a full schedule.

carols were sung prior to the official lighting of the Antioch family tree in front of the Village Hall.

The tree was well decorated with many ornaments donated by various Antioch families.

"The rain quit just in time for the parade," said Laurie Stahl, village parks and recreation director. "There were a few sprinkles during the tree lighting, but overall, the weather cooperated."

Santa and Mrs. Claus greeted those who waited out the rainy weather at Santa's Enchanted Castle. Santa will be available 5:30-8 p.m. Monday through Friday, 11 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Children may have pictures taken with Santa for a nominal fee. Santa will be available daily through Dec. 22.

Residents are reminded to decorate the outside of their homes for the holidays to possibly win some prizes.

This year, the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry and CAN host the Holiday Lights of Antioch.

The residential outdoor Christmas decorating contest for the village of Antioch has $1,000 in Chamber gift certificates to be awarded as prizes.

Judging will be Dec. 11-12. To register for judging, phone the Chamber office at 395-2233, or contact the Chamber office by mail or in person at 884 Main Street in Antioch.

Another Chamber contest is finding Frosty. At participating merchants, pick up a Frosty form, count the number of snowmen on their windows, write in the amount on the form. Drop the completed form off at the Chamber office. Entries have an opportunity to win $250 worth of Chamber gift certificates.

REPORT CARD: School gets high marks

to a state level 20 percent lower than that was highlighted by Hockney.

When reviewing the American College Testing (ACT) Program results, ACHS students are showing well in comparison to state and national averages.

"We're constantly coming up above the state or national averages," Hockney notes. "We're pretty consistent over time, above the state and national averages."

The Illinois Standard Achievement Test (SAT)/Illinois Goals Assessment Program (GAP) have Hockney concerned because of plans to discontinue their use after this year.

"This test will only be given one more time," Hockney said. "I have my reservations about that because in two years, the test will go away unless the legislature changes its funding status."

Another test series, the Prairie State Achievement Exam, had the reading portion administered this year. Eventual plans to include math, social science and science are viewed as good by Hockney. A flaw in the program is by the time students have taken all of the tests, which will be during their junior year, the results will not come to the school until their senior year.

"That's too late to do anything about it," Hockney said.

To counter the delay in receiving the test data, analyzing it, and using the information to formulate any kind of curriculum changes which might prove beneficial to the students while still in attendance, a new testing program has been implemented.

The Comprehensive Testing Program III (CTPIII) was administered to freshman students this fall during the first full week of school. This group of tests reviews where students are in reading, writing ability and aptitude.

The plan is to test freshman and sophomores in 2000-2001, adding another grade level until a four classes will be tested in 2002-2003.

This will give school administration the opportunity to zero in on a specific area which students may show a problem in. Changes in how that material is presented would be able to be implemented prior to the student completing their senior year.

By voluntarily instituting the CTPIII program, ACHS is going beyond what the state is requiring.

"It also tells us not only how we rank nationally, but how we compare with other suburban schools of our size," Hockney said.

In reviewing how ACHS ranks with the state levels, Hockney said he was pleased to inform the board an overall good report card.

With the additional testing program under the direction of Syd Klocke, assistant principal for curriculum instruction, Hockney is optimistic the community will continue to see increases in the performance of ACHS students at or above the state and national averages.

STUDENT: Danish student finds U.S. 'cousin'

mates and they said it's really good to be an exchange student," Magnus said. "I felt it would be good and interesting for me to do."

For Magnus, a year in the United States is seen as "kind of relaxing."

"I will study very hard when I go back," Magnus explained. "I can't use this year of study in my homeland. It's like college when I get back to Denmark."

Finishing the ninth grade in Denmark is like completing a high school senior year in the United States. After that, a person can join the work force or attend college.

"The Danish school system is a lot harder," Magnus explained. "It's about 200 days per year. You're with the same class of students since you're in kindergarten. Everyone has the same breaks during the day."

The options of different classes for high school students in the United States is something Danish students do not enjoy.

"They give you a schedule and that's it," Magnus explained.

Classes include two years of foods, math, physics, geography, biology, chemistry, woods, music, photography and three languages, Danish, English and German.

Since arriving in Antioch, Magnus decided to play soccer this fall. Admittedly not the best soccer player in the world, Magnus said he did it mainly to meet people. While playing on the Antioch junior varsity squad, Magnus did score one goal and achieved his personal goal of making friends.

Magnus number one sport is tennis which he plans to go out for in the spring.

One difference Magnus has seen in the United States from his home is the number of fast food restaurants. "There's more sit down at home," Magnus said of the Danish restaurants.

"Every day at dinner you sit down with your family and talk about the day," Magnus said. Dinner time is a sacred time with virtually no excuses being acceptable for missing.

"Here in the United States you get something from the frig, put it on a plate and place it in the microwave," Magnus said.

"Talking more" is something Magnus sees families doing more of in Denmark than the United States.

"Basically, my mother loves to ask us about everything," Magnus says of his homeland dinner. "She asks how our school day was. My little sister hates it."

Home for Magnus is Klampenborg, a suburb of Copenhagen. Both his father, Torben, and mother, Carin, are medical doctors who have their own clinic. Eva is his 14-year-old sister. The family has a little dog, Kerne, a Cain Terrier.

"It's a little smaller than Antioch," Magnus said of home. "It's on the Ostersoen Sea (spelling is Americanized)."

The Danish alphabet contains three letters which the English alphabet does not. "We're the only country in the world with these letters," said Magnus with a laugh. "Sweden writes another way though."

This occasionally causes Magnus some difficulty in explaining how to spell some of the areas of his homeland. Otherwise, Magnus says it really is no problem.

Regarding understanding English or people in the United States understanding his heavy Danish accent, Magnus said it as a problem "a little bit, the first week. That's all."

Since then he has been keeping busy getting to know people and going to various events and attractions. Included among his favorite so far was Great America and seeing different movies with friends.

Prior to arriving in the United States on Aug. 7, Magnus traveled to Italy for the summer giving him a look at another culture.

For Magnus, the main thing to do to help him have a complete look at American culture is meet people and do things.

Admittedly getting homesick occasionally, being made a part of the host families helps him get over it quickly.

Finding a long lost cousin admittedly helped, too.

ARSON: Man arrested

fire set in a couch in the room, according to Watkins.

Two additional cars, a 1988 Plymouth and a 1986 Toyota, were reported on fire at 8:46 a.m. In both cases, the fires were believed to have been set between 5:30-6 a.m., according to Police Chief Charlie Watkins.

The interiors of both vehicles were virtually destroyed.

Antioch and Fox Lake fire investigators classified the fires as incendiary in nature, turning over the case to Antioch Police officials.

During Ruth's investigation of the vehicles at 760 Main Street, droplets of blood were detected on the pavement leading toward 780 Main Street. This led Ruth to believe the individual responsible may have cut himself breaking into one of the vehicles.

At approximately 9 a.m., Ruth observed a individual at 764 Main Street "acting very suspicious."

During an identification check, Ruth found the individual, subsequently identified as Johnson, having an outstanding disorderly conduct warrant from Lake County.

A large cut was discovered on Johnson's left hand with additional blood on his pants and jacket. During a search of Johnson, a cell phone was found in one of his pockets.

While Sgt. Craig Somerville was interviewing Johnson, a check with Ameritech revealed the cell phone had come from one of the burned vehicles on Orchard Street.

Johnson reportedly admitted to Somerville having committed the vehicle burglaries, setting the fires in an attempt to destroy evidence.

The delays in some of the fires were due to Johnson reportedly lighting the foam under the seats. The fire would smolder for some time prior to flaring up and spreading.

The motive of the spree was an attempt to find money or things which he could sell in order to buy crack cocaine.

When questioned about the laundry room fire, Johnson reportedly said he heard the sirens from the other fires and thought he could throw police off by having the fire in a building.

Johnson reportedly has an extensive prior arrest record. Following initial booking at Antioch Police Station, Johnson was transported to the Lake County Jail. Bond was set by Judge Victoria Martin at $1 million. A court date of 1:30 p.m. Dec. 15 in Court Room 120 is scheduled.

There were three slight injuries during the spree. One was a fire fighter who twisted a knee, one of the vehicle owners was slightly burned trying to extinguish the fire and one of the residents in the apartment building suffered an emphysema attack. All were treated at the scene and none required hospitalization according to fire reports.

"It was a good effort from everybody working the midnight shift," Watkins said. "Sgt. Ruth did an excellent job apprehending the person. I believe if we didn't catch him, we would've had more arsons either later that day or that night."

"It was strictly a burglary spree looking for money or items which he (Johnson) could sell for crack cocaine," Watkins said. "I was proud Sgt. Ruth acted as quickly as he did which helped contain the laundry room fire."

"There was an awful lot of senseless damage," Watkins concluded. "I was glad Sgt. Ruth was out there doing his job. The suspect was definitely a danger to the community. I have a strong feeling it would've continued if he was not caught."

Crossbow discharge

Scott S. Baehr, 25, 587 Main Street, #1, Antioch was arrested by Antioch Police at 2:32 p.m. Nov. 25 and charged with a local ordinance violation for discharging a crossbow within the village limits. Baehr was observed by police discharging plastic arrows from a cross bow at a tree. During a records identification check, Baehr was found to have an outstanding warrant from Lake County for sale/delivery of drug paraphernalia. Baehr was charged on the local ordinance and transported to Lake County Jail regarding the outstanding warrant.

Suspended license

Danny L. Eidson, Jr., 25, 267 W. Route 173, Room #3, Antioch was stopped by Antioch Police at 12:26 p.m. Nov. 21. Eidson was observed driving an Oldsmobile with no front license plate. During a identification check, Eidson was found to be driving while on a suspended license. Eidson was charged with improperly displaying a license plate/having no front plate, and driving while a license is suspended.

Outstanding warrants

Gerald L. Olson, 43, 35600 Wilmet Road, Twin Lakes was arrested by Antioch Police at 3:58 a.m. on outstanding warrants. During an investigation of another matter, police were made aware of Olson acting suspicious and appearing to be highly intoxicated according to a clerk at Regency Inn, 350 W. Route 173 in Antioch. Reportedly Olson asked if he could remain in the lobby for a while before continuing to walk to Twin Lakes. Olson was found to have outstanding warrants in Lake County for DUI and two from Morton Grove for DUI and a suspended driver's license. Morton Grove indicated plans to extradite Olson from Lake County.

Robert J. Zeman, 26, 35620-52nd Street, Salem, Wis. was arrested by Antioch Police at 11:22 p.m. Nov. 25 outside Bernie's Citgo, 830 Main Street, Antioch. Zeman was questioned by police when spotted in the parking lot of the closed business. Zeman reportedly told police he was walked home from Limerick Lounge in Antioch. During a identification check, Zeman was found to have an outstanding warrant from Lake County for DUI. Zeman was transported to Lake County Jail with the case turned over to Lake County au-

WEDDING

Jill & Daniel Stoops

Jill Ann Ozga and Daniel Patrick Stoops were married on Sept. 25 at the St. Agnes Church of Springfield at 2 p.m. in the afternoon.

Rev. Mark Schulte officiated the ceremony and the reception was held at the Hilton in Springfield.

The bride is the daughter of Bill and Sally Ozga of Antioch. She is a 1989 graduate of Antioch Community High School. She received her BSN from Mennonite College of Nursing in 1994 and she is currently attending Mennonite College of Nursing at ISU to obtain her Masters Degree in Nursing to become a family nurse practitioner.

The groom is the son of Alvin and Shirley Stoops of New Athens. He is a 1985 graduate of Benedictine University in Lisle; and a graduate of SIU school of medicine in 1989. He is the medical director of the emergency room in Havana.

Susan Perusich was the matron of Honor and Richard Stoops was the best man.

Bridesmaids were Elizabeth Lee and Lisa Ellis. Groomsmen were Ted Contri and Don Perusich II. Ushers were Jason Sawyer and Bernard Segatto.

The bride wore a third generation wedding dress that was previously worn by her mother, Sally, and her grandmother, Phyllis Sharp. The dress is 53-years-old and made during World War II by Saks Fifth Avenue, Chicago. The couple plans to reside in Springfield.

State Rep. Osmond gives students Springfield insight

Talking about experiences in the Illinois General Assembly was the main focus of District 62 State Representative Timothy Osmond in speaking to a social studies class.

The 7th graders in teacher Caroline Adams class at Grass Lake School were able to find out first hand what it is like to be part of the state legislature.

The process of how a bill is passed in Springfield was explained. Osmond answered questions concerning bills which have been passed during this year's legislative session.

Proposals for future projects within the Antioch area were addressed. This includes the installation of a traffic light at Route 59 and Beach Grove Road.

When the general assembly is not in session, Osmond explained he maintains a busy schedule meeting with different organizations and individuals regarding concerns and things which they would like to see happen in his legislative district.

Antioch Upper Grade inducts 28 into national honor society

By MICHAEL H. BABICZ
Community Editor

The largest class in the history of National Junior Honor Society (NJHS) at Antioch Upper Grade School (AUGS) is scheduled to be inducted Dec. 5.

The induction is scheduled for 1 p.m. at The Tower Room located in Antioch Bowling Lanes on Route 173 just west of Route 59 in Antioch.

The 28 students were selected following an application process. A panel of six teachers reviewed the applications. Applications included community service, work experience, activities they are involved in and an essay on how they would make a good member of the organization.

At the end of the first quarter grading period, 7th and 8th grade students with 3.85 and above on a 4.0 grade point average (GPA) receive invitations.

"This is the largest group we've had in the six years I've been involved with it," said Wes Owens, NJHS sponsor.

During the induction ceremony, the new members will take the NJHS oath and receive certificates of membership.

The first major group project for the new inductees will be heading up the Christmas Food Drive. The members will coordinate collection of the food items prior to the last day before the holiday break. On that day, they will take care of putting the food together and distributing it to the Antioch Food Pantry.

Additional projects the NJHS students work on include tutoring, helping at both Antioch Lower Grade School and Oakland Grade School fun fairs.

A memorial to students from AUGS who died is maintained by NJHS members.

NJHS officers are Becky Tucker, president; Cara Anderson, vice president; Cassie Turzy, secretary; and Samantha Miller, treasurer.

Advisors in addition to Owens are Charlene Bunge and Jay Marshall.

New NJHS inductees are: Stephanie Brinker, Elizabeth Burdell, Kati Cox, Jennie Dewar, Gina Florian, Katy Fries.

Charlie Haley, Phil Herout, Nate Hughes, Rachel Kerner, Kyle Ketterling, Julieanne Kriens, Stephanie Leafblad, Melissa Lulofs, Elizabeth Martin.

Michelle Ranaldo, Loren Scarbrough, Peter Scheldt, Erin Schwaba, Suzanne Steimasek and Leslie White.

Bonnie Henning, Jordan Houtz, Samantha Miller, Nathan Moore, Danielle O'Young, Brynn Schwaba, Becky Tucker and Cassie Turzy.

What you should know about Y2K

Even if nothing goes wrong, experts suggest you should be ready

While great strides are being made by corporations and government agencies to avert any major technology troubles as we move into the new millennium, no one can be certain about the effects of a potential Y2K problem. The American Red Cross of Greater Chicago has prepared sensible information that could be used to prepare for anything from Y2K disruptions to other potential problems such as severe winter storms.

The Y2K technology problem, or bug, was created in the early days of computers when memory in computers was scarce and expensive. To save space, programmers took shortcuts whenever possible and instead of using a four-digit code for year dates, used a two-digit entry. When 2000 comes, programs that have been coded with two-digit year codes will not distinguish between the years 2000 and 1900 and no one knows what the outcome will be.

The Red Cross offers the following tips for preparedness:

- If you have any essential computer-controlled electronic equipment in your home, check with the manufacturers to see if that equipment may be affected.

- If electrical outages do occur, retail stores could be affected as well, so it's always a good idea to have a disaster supply kit on hand. The kit should include several days to a week's supply of non-perishable foods, stored water, and prescription and non-prescription medications that regularly used.

- As is suggested in preparation for a storm of any kind, you may want to have a small amount of cash on hand in case electronic transactions involving ATM cards, credit cards, and the like cannot be processed.

- Similar to preparing for a winter storm, it is suggested that you keep your automobile gas tank above half full to avoid any long lines at the gas stations.

- Plan an alternate cooking method, such as a charcoal grill, which should always be used outside.

- Have extra blankets, coats, hats, and gloves to keep warm. Do not plan to use gas-fueled appliances, like an oven, to warm your home. If you plan to use an alternative-heating device, make sure it is approved for use indoors.

- Have plenty of flashlights and extra batteries on hand. Don't use candles for emergency lighting because they are a fire hazard.

- Examine your smoke alarms now and if they are hard-wired into your home's electrical system (most newer ones are), check to see if they have battery back-ups. Every fall you should replace the batteries in all smoke alarms as a general fire safety precaution.

- If there is a prolonged power outage, or if for any other reason local officials request or require that you leave your home, be assured that the Red Cross will be available to help you relocate to a shelter for warmth and protection. Listen to a battery-operated radio or television for information about where shelters will be available.

- If you plan to use a portable generator connect what you want to power directly to the generator do not connect the generator to your home's electrical system. Don't put a generator in your basement or anywhere inside your home.

- Check with the emergency services providers in your community to see if there is more information available about how your community is preparing for any potential problems.

The American Red Cross of Greater Chicago helps people prevent, prepare for, and respond to emergencies. We're in your neighborhood every day, providing disaster preparedness and relief, health and safety education, international services and assistance to military personnel and their families. For more information, or to obtain a Y2K informational brochure, call (312) 729-6212 or (312) 729-6106 en español. ## LETTER TO EDITOR

Resources available for people in need

In the Oct. 4 issue, Publisher Bill Schroeder told of the plight of a Fox Lake daughter whose 78 year old mother was lonely and depressed and it seemed she was the only resource her Antioch mother had to ease one situation.

Although I had the daughter's name, I was unable to locate her by directory assistance. I wanted to tell her about Community Telecare which checks on and brightens the day of many live-alones and shut-ins in the Antioch vicinity.

We have found some in crisis situations and taken appropriate action to the gratefulness of the family and victims.

The volunteers call during the mornings of Monday through Friday at no charge.

We would be delighted to make contact with the daughter and her mother or anyone else in need of our service founded 27 years ago. Please call 395-9098.

Europe Comes To Las Vegas

by JIM WARNKEN, President, North Star Travel, Inc.

Last week I made my once a year trip to Las Vegas. I arrived on a late flight and checked into my room at Bally's around 11 PM. I opened the curtains and was overwhelmed to see the Eiffel Tower right outside my window!

If that wasn't enough, the Hotel De Ville, which I had visited only a few months ago in Paris, was now right next to Bally's here in Las Vegas. Across the street I could see the famous Bellagio Resort overlooking Lake Como. But isn't that lake and the resort supposed to be in Italy?

Europe has arrived on the Las Vegas Strip.

For non-gamblers, as myself, Las Vegas is becoming a much more interesting destination. In the past, my trips to Vegas have been solely for the purpose of keeping up with the changes so I could confidently advise my clients on where to stay and what to see. This trip I really enjoyed myself.

I chose to stay at Bally's because of its central location and easy access to other resorts. There's also a free tram directly to the MGM Grand and if you take the walkway over Las Vegas Blvd. to Bellagio's there's another free tram to the Monte Carlo.

The Eiffel Tower and the Hotel De Ville outside my window was all part of the new Paris Hotel, which is attached to Bally's.

You really do feel like you are in Paris when you are at "The Paris". The same sidewalk cafes and small shops that line the streets of Paris can be found on the recreated cobblestone streets inside the Paris Hotel. Every employee of the Paris, from security to cook, is not only dressed in the appropriate costume, but must have the same knowledge as their counterparts in France.

Across the street is the Bellagio, the most expensive hotel ever built in Las Vegas (so far). Since the real Bellagio in Italy is on Lake Como, a man-made lake complete with an extraordinary fountain show, was constructed to go along with the theme.

Another Italian themed hotel a little farther north on the strip (across from Treasure Island) is the all-suite hotel, The Venice, complete with full size gondola rides. The canal is lined with famous shops from around the world.

You can also visit Monte Carlo, Luxor on the Nile, Mandalay Bay and even go back in time to the days of Excalibur, all without leaving the Las Vegas Strip.

Dreaming of a white Christmas

The Friday after Thanksgiving, as holiday music wafts through the household, and the last remaining wine glasses and water goblets from the previous evenings dinner are washed and put away, the preparations begin for the upcoming season. The Christmas decorations are brought up from the basement and the house is a flurry with scurrying little feet and hands putting each adornment in its designated space. The morning is filled with screams and shrieks as each ornament that is carefully unwrapped reveals another memory or story.

Ah, to get that excited over a simple box of ornaments. The corner of the kitchen holds court for the children's Christmas tree which is trimmed with ornaments bearing each child's initial, new ones are added each year as the children are presented these remembrances by special aunts, uncles, godparents and grandparents.

The windows are bedecked with cardboard cut outs hanging by little plastic hooks, and the mantle is adorned with stockings bearing the names of each family member. Evergreen bows are festooned with bright red ribbons and hung in the archways of each doorway. Lights twinkle around every window and bells jingle from each door knob.

In the great room a site is cleared for the family Christmas tree which will be cut down and dragged to its spot of honor in the weeks to come. All is well and the house is ready, but unless mother nature cooperates and produces some of that powdery white stuff that embellishes the bushes, trees, yards, sidewalks and roadways—Christmas just won't be the same. With this less than seasonal weather that has been upon us up through Thanksgiving, a White Christmas seems a bit of a stretch—a white Fourth of July seems more likely.

So Mother Nature, if you are lounging poolside at your favorite seaside resort and happen to be reading Lakeland's fine edition here, could you take a moment of your vacation time to rustle us up some of that precipitation that tops off this holiday season like frosting on a cake or sprinkles on ice cream—please.

And so goes another, "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Keith would be proud!

(Part 3 of 4)

Keith Ryan was a renowned sportscaster who promoted local sports in Lake County for nearly 25 years.

Well, The College of Lake County Foundation has been instrumental in carrying on his legacy. They have done so by offering a $1,000 scholarship, given to an area student interested in pursuing broadcasting or journalism.

This year's winner was 1999 Grayslake High graduate Elizabeth Galant, who is currently attending CLC and pursuing an associate's degree in English/Journalism.

Everything came together last month when Galant was honored at the 11th Annual Keith Ryan Scholarship Fund and Sports Banquet, held at Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth.

A Who's Who crowd of nearly 200 gathered to honor Galant as well as this year's inductees into the Waukegan/Lake County Sports Hall of Fame.

The program also featured Gurnee resident and 1996 Olympian Jenny Spangler as its guest speaker.

Inducted into the Lake County Hall of Fame included former North Chicago High three-sport star Johnny Johnson, Jr., currently playing arena football for the Peoria Pirates, and former Lake Forest track standout Jill Stamison McMullen, presently training for the 2000 Olympics.

Inducted into the Waukegan Hall of Fame included the likes of all-state soccer and baseball player David Aho, three-sport star Larry Hanzel, Lake County women's bowling standout Irene Hukkala Salata, all-American wrestler Mark Tiffany, and legendary fastpitch softball hurler Ed "Minnow" Manioian. All are graduates of Waukegan High School.

Turning to the present, CLC honored its fall sports athletes a couple of weeks ago.

The Lancer men's soccer team suffered eight one-goal losses in finishing 7-9-2.

Jonathan Mendelke scored six goals and dished out one assist. He was rewarded by being named to the second team All-Skyway, as was Antioch's Chris Placko. Tri-captain Chris Porter led the team in goals and was named to the Region IV second team as well as the Skyway Conference first team.

Tri-captain, sweeper Mike Speckan from Libertyville, was named to the first team All-Skyway and second team All-Region. He was also a two-time all-tournament selection at Lincoln and was voted the Defensive Player of the Year in the Skyway this season.

Another sophomore who will sorely miss is that of Warren and tri-captain Ed Montano, who was a first team selection to both the Skyway and Region IV teams. Ed also was named to the all-tournament team at Lincoln and was nominated for NJCAA All-American.

Hopeful returning players include Kamau Grant (4 goals, 3 assists), Mariano Hernandez (goal, assist), Jim Mathewson (assist), Don O'Brien (goal, 5 assists), Jeffery Murray (5 goals, 4 assists), Chris Howell, Julio Soto, Justin Weeks, Casser Zequida, Carlos Gomez, and Francisco Hernandez.

Sequoits look promising despite finishing third

Sports Editor

Even though it finished third in last weekend's Grayslake Gold Ball Classic, the Antioch varsity boys basketball team showed the opposition a thing or two.

For starters, it showed it can hang with some of the tougher teams in the area. Secondly, and perhaps more importantly, the Sequoits demonstrated it has the firepower and the ability to make big plays during crunch time.

Antioch entered Saturday night's finale against Highland Park with an 0-2 record but rest assured, they looked more like a 2-0 club at times.

Senior forward Don Lackey canned a three-pointer right off the bat and Antioch would never look back in holding off a gutsy Giants team, 43-35.

"We played pretty decent tonight," said head coach Jeff Dresser. "We were reacting better to the ball and cut down on our turnovers. They made some runs at us but we gathered our composure and got a little more patient on offense. Lackey's been banging it around pretty good inside and White's shooting has been outstanding."

On the strength of 4-of-9 shooting, Antioch raced to a 9-2 lead by the end of the first quarter. Lackey, who finished with a game-high 18 points, scored four during the opening stanza. Junior guard Adam Durham also scored four of his six points in the quarter.

Antioch clung to single-digit lead before sharp-shooter Eric White, who finished with 12 points, gave the Sequoits a 10-point cushion (35-25) after nailing a trey with :03 left in the third quarter.

Antioch maintained that lead throughout most of the fourth quarter, going up by as many as 13 (42-29). Highland Park then closed the gap by ending the game with a 6-1 spurt, capped by a three-pointer with :02 seconds remaining.

White had seven points in the third when Antioch began pulling away.

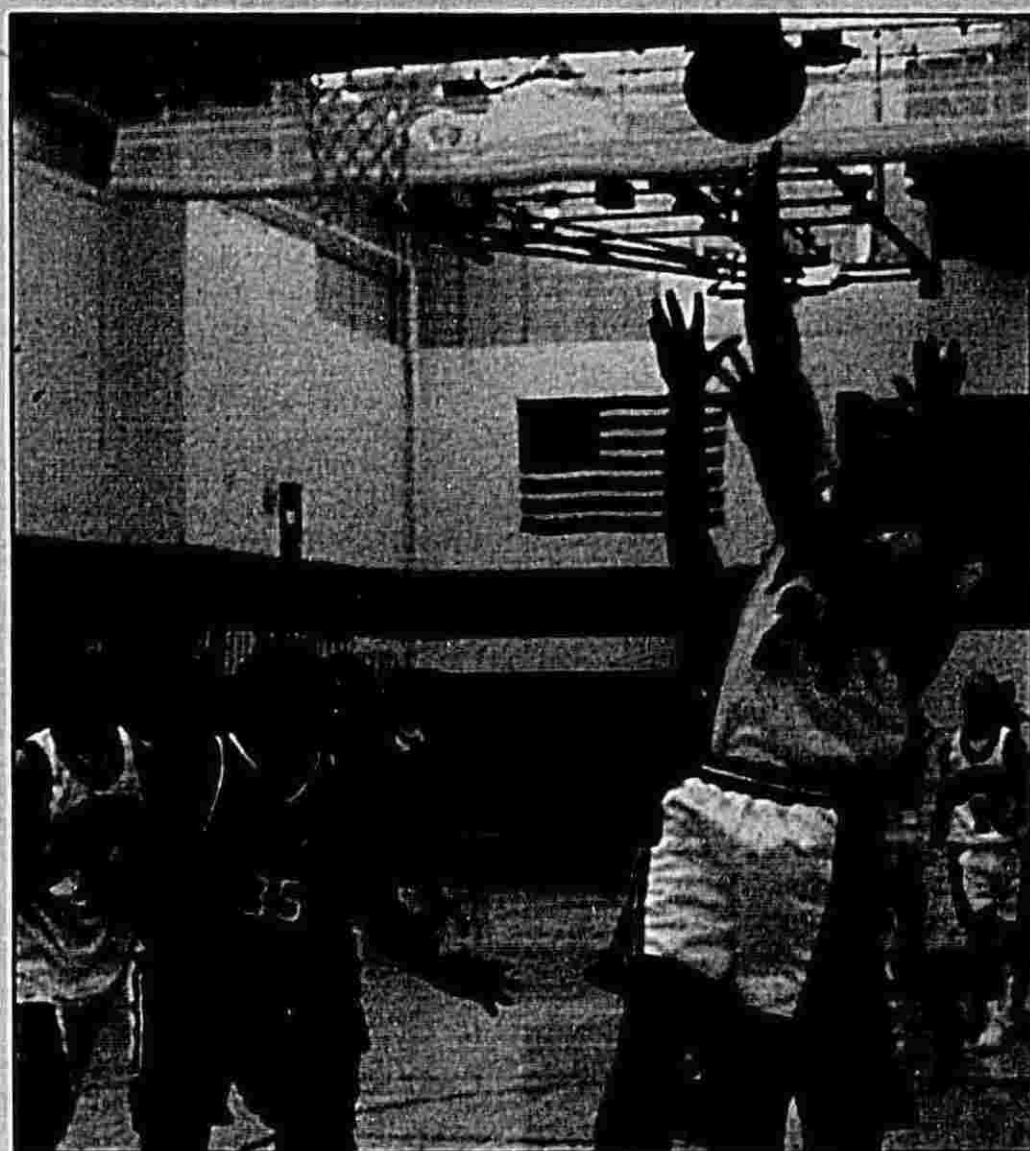

And speaking of White, the 6-3 shooting guard, along with 5-8 junior point-guard Kyle Heinrich, provided some fireworks in Antioch's opening game last Wednesday against eventual champion Lake Zurich.

The Sequoits held a 47-45 advantage with 2:17 remaining. But Lake Zurich rallied to take a 50-47 lead after a three-pointer by Dave Mordy. Antioch turned the ball over but Heinrich stole the ensuing inbound pass and as the buzzer sounded, drilled a three-pointer to tie it at 50.

Trailing 55-53, heroics were again the story in the first overtime session, but this time by White, who tied the game at 50-50 after carving through the lane for a layup with :01 remaining.

However, Antioch ran out of gas as Lake Zurich poured it on, outscoring the Sequoits 12-2 in the second overtime.

"We played tough against them," added Dresser. "Again, some key turnovers and a few missed free-

Soft as church music, junior guard Adam Durham of the Sequoits converts on a baby jumper in last Saturday's 43-35 victory over Highland Park.—Photo by Steve Young throws caught up with us."

In Saturday's second-round game, Grayslake pulled away for a 67-57 victory as White hit for 16, including three treys. Lackey was limited to just 8 points.

"We need to work on our defense," noted Dresser. "We also need to have our guards penetrate more inside."

Antioch (1-2) hosts North Chicago Friday in the NSC opener, followed by a road date with Zion-Benton next Tuesday.

Hot Carmel wins Mundelein girls tourney

Mustangs finish 1-3

Staff Reporter

The Corsairs now stand at 5-0 after posting a perfect 4-0 record and winning the Mundelein Tournament.

In winning four games Carmel defeated Crystal Lake Central 28-27, Hoffman Estates 36-34 in overtime, Mundelein 44-31 and McHenry in the championship game by a score of 38-35 in overtime.

The strong points for the Corsairs so far in the season has been their tenacious defense, yielding just 33.6 points per game and their team free throw shooting (70%).

The clear cut leader for Carmel has been senior G/F Kelly Krombach whose 15 points per game, assists and steals have been pacing the team.

However, Krombach isn't the only show in town. Sophomore F/C Christine Martinson has been a solid contributor, leading the team in rebounding and scoring around eight points per game.

There are also two players who made a significant contribution especially in the McHenry game. Senior G Anne Borling scored five points in the 4th quarter including a big three-pointer that helped bring Carmel back from a ten-point deficit.

Also, sophomore G Kyle Adams scored 12 points against McHenry which took the load off of Krombach who was the obvious target of the McHenry defense.

According to Head Coach John Ryan, "They tried to take Kelly (Krombach) out of her game but we had other players step up to carry the load."

The Corsairs open up conference play at home on Thursday against Joliet Catholic.

Meanwhile, Mundelein finished 1-3 in the tournament and slipped to 2-4 after falling to Round Lake 50-37 Tuesday night in non-conference action.

The Mustangs fell behind 18-6 after the first quarter and were never able to recover.

Kayla Kully and Catherine Chreanthakes each chipped in eight points for the Mustangs, who committed 13 turnovers on the evening.

Mundelein closed to within nine twice in the final quarter but Round Lake made 5-of-6 free-throws down the stretch in preserving the victory.

Mundelein hosts Libertyville Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

Young Sequoit bowlers exceeding expectations

It might be going through what they call a youth movement, but if the first week of competition is a sign of things to come, good things are destined to happen for the Antioch varsity girls bowling team.

That's because the Sequoits posted victories on all levels in last week's opener against Grayslake at Kristoff's in Round Lake Beach.

The varsity team came away with a 2,137-1,891 win as junior Melissa Hansen rolled a 462 series and senior Robin Walczak complemented her with a 454 series over three games. The Rams' Sarah Jackson led all bowlers with a 472 series.

The Sequoits then turned in a solid performance over the weekend at the Stevenson Invitational.

Antioch rolled an 890 in the final game of the tournament, enabling them to finish ahead of Fremd in ninth place overall and second in the B Bracket by eight pins. Antioch's total score of 3,936 better last years score of 3,816. Individually, Robin Walczak finished 10th overall with a 906 series over five games. Her high games included 189, 190, and 211. Abbey Thomas, in her first varsity tournament, turned in a solid effort with an 811 total, including two games where she rolled 180. Sophomore Sarah Schroeder also turned in a 201 games for the Sequoits.

The JV also made some noise in their first tournament competing as a team as well as individually. Antioch finished fifth place overall. Junior Becky Gillengerten fired a 201-high game, good for a 730 series. New comer Jackie Feldman rolled a 724 series and Katie Lyons also turned in a solid 692 total.

"The first week's performance was a lot better than I expected for this young team," said head coach Steve Haenchen.

Antioch will compete in the Palatine Invitational this Saturday, beginning at 9 a.m.

'Vanity' to humility

Former pop star/actress sheds spotlight for God's light

ANGELA D. SYKORA
Staff Reporter

Former 80s pop star and actress Denise Matthews, who was named "Vanity" by the Artist Formerly known as Prince, wants nothing to do with her old life.

It was a life of sin, she told audience members packed into the Round Lake Beach Church of God.

Sex, drugs and rock 'n' roll nearly took her life. God, she said, gave her a new one.

Matthews is a born-again Christian and Evangelist who ministers the word of God at churches across the country for Jesus Christ For All Nations, based in California.

As Vanity, Matthews led her own girl group, Vanity 6, formed by Prince; graced the covers of such magazines as "Rolling Stone;" and was adored by legions of fans.

She made 17 films and numerous music videos and albums. She went to Hollywood parties and mingled with the "beautiful people."

She also was a crack cocaine addict for "12 years solid."

Her body was ravaged by drugs. She survived a stroke, heart attack and a kidney transplant.

At her lowest, she had 2 percent of a working kidney, and was urinating into her bloodstream. At death's door, her blood pressure was 250 over 190.

"I had the money, fame, fortune, limos. I was digging a bigger hole in my body is all I was doing," said Matthews.

As she laid on the hospital gurney, she was blind, deaf and praying to God that she did not want to die.

God heard, and answered her prayers, she said.

"It's a terrible thing to have to go right down to the pit, crying to get out. But, it's a good thing when you come down to your bitter end," she said.

"As deep as you went down, you must go even higher up."

For Matthews, the name Vanity "is a dead thing."

She does not sign autographs anymore, and has long since thrown away any reminders of her old identity.

"I worshipped the Devil. I was believing my own lies, walking my own lies, talking my own lies, teaching, singing, working my own lies to feel that lust of money."

"When I first came to the Lord, my mouth was filled with foul language. He delivered me from the lust of flesh, wanting this, wanting that."

Matthews recalled her days in the spotlight as a "been there, done that" kind of thing that is empty and meaningless.

"God has cut me from everything. God has saved me for a purpose."

Matthews advised the audience against giving more glory to sports teams than to God.

She cautioned them about movies that promote sin and violence.

"TV and movies are overtaking us," said Matthews, who encouraged people to do other activities instead.

Matthews will not be seen in films these days, having given up the spotlight to spread the word of God.

"Why would I want to kiss on a man that does not belong to me, and why would I want to watch (someone else do the same)?"

Her search for happiness in reckless living and self-destruction dates back to a painful childhood.

"I used to pray and beg to die. As a child, I was beaten, abused, slashed for a couple hours at a time. I was molested as a child," she said.

"I went through all of this and God saw me. God knew me."

Matthews is not afraid to die, but no longer wants to. There are too many people to be saved, she said.

"We don't know when Jesus will come back, but we've got to get ready."

"If you're not with Jesus Christ, who are you with? If you're not with Him, you're against him," she concluded.

New master gardeners certified in county

Fifteen Lake County residents were certified as University of Illinois Master Gardeners. Master Gardeners are trained volunteers who donate time to help the horticulture program of University of Illinois Extension which provides service to the residents of Lake County. The newly certified Master Gardeners are Karen Albert of Hawthorn Woods, Barbara Arnold of Green Oaks, Nancy Busch of Lake Bluff, Jeanne Cannon of North Barrington, Susan Clolorito of Gurnee, Kathy Felice of Hawthorn Woods, Tracy Gay of Lake Zurich, George Goldstein of Lincolnshire, Roberta Lee of Lincolnshire, Lilli Martin of Ivanhoe, Colette Monahan of Mundelein, Jennifer Peris of Grayslake, Maurine Reyes of Mundelein, Nita Senour of Mundelein and Rita Vander Meulen of Barrington.

Other Master Gardeners were honored at the certification ceremony. Jim Adams of Wildwood was recognized for 10 years of service as a Master Gardener. Earlier in the year, Betty Holleman and Lynn Mayschak, both of Lake Villa received State Master Gardener Awards.

Stormi Bivin was named Master Gardener of the Year (1999) for Lake County. Bivin, a resident of Hawthorn Woods has been a Master Gardener for two years and has served the organization in many ways. She is an integral member of the information service, (which answers gardening questions for homeowners), is a member of both the Master Gardener Advisory Committee and Recognition of Achievement Committee and volunteers in local nursing homes through the Master Gardener horticulture therapy program. Bivin gave in excess of 120 volunteer hours in 1999. Master Gardener volunteers are only required to give 30 hours per year.

The staff of University of Illinois Extension congratulates Stormi Bivin and all the Master Gardeners for their accomplishments. University of Illinois Extension is the off-campus educational arm of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, and addresses community issues through educational programs and research-based information.

Christmas coming early this year

Catholic Charities of Lake County will be hosting its annual Foster Care/Adoption Christmas Party on Dec. 12 from 3 to 5 p.m. at St. Anastasia Church (629 Glen Flora Ave., Waukegan). This event affords approximately 300 Catholic Charities foster children, and their families, the opportunity to come together to celebrate the joy, love, and warmth of the holiday season.

Children, dressed in their finest Christmas attire, participate in various holiday games, face painting, and a Christmas carol sing-a-long. Santa Claus also makes a special appearance, talking to each child, taking a picture with them, and presenting them with a unique gift. In addition, each family indulges in a variety of healthy appetizers and snacks and concludes the celebration by partaking in homemade desserts.

A multitude of contributions made by Lake County businesses, community groups, and people, assist in making this event possible. Catholic Charities of Lake County extends their sincerest appreciation for these individuals' consideration, time dedication, and support.

Extend the holiday spirit throughout the year, become a foster parent. For further information regarding foster care and adoption, contact Catholic Charities of Lake County at 782-4200.

Ford Crown Victoria offers comfort, rear-wheel-drive and V8 power

For those who need space and comfort and prefer the ride and styling of a traditional sedan, nothing beats the rear-wheel-drive Ford Crown Victoria. Its appeal ranges from families with older children and active seniors to the top choice of law enforcement agencies for pursuit vehicles.

Powered by a V8 engine, Crown Victoria's trademark features include one of the largest trunks in the industry, comfortable seating for six adults and large car safety. New for 1999 are standard anti-lock brakes and three colors: Deep Wedgewood Blue, Harvest Gold and Light Blue Clearcoat.

Crown Victoria offers exceptional driving dynamics. The Watt's linkage rear suspension system gives Crown Victoria confident handling, while continuing to provide smooth ride comfort. Its 4.6 liter SOHC V8 engine provides 200 horsepower and can be upped to 215 horsepower, with the optional handling package. This package provides driving enthusiasts with performance tires, larger diameter rear stabilizer bars, revised shocks, dual exhaust and rear air springs. Automatic load leveling is provided by the rear air springs.

"Crown Victoria is engineered and designed for safety," said Crown Victoria Brand Manager Maria Frazier. "It has received the five-star government front crash test rating and features second-generation air bags and side-door intrusion beams."

Safety and quality go hand-in-hand with the Crown Victoria. J.D. Power and Associates named Crown Victoria to its "Top Ten" list of quality vehicles.

Crown Victoria is also available as a dedicated natural gas vehicle. Rated as an ultra low-emission vehicle, it is one of the most environmentally responsible sedans on the road.

Crown Victoria expanded its appeal with a significant freshening in 1998 that included new exterior styling, interior upgrades and big improvements in its steering, handling and directional stability. A new rear and revised front suspension system, larger front brakes and tires, transmission improvements, engine modifications and available all-speed traction control added up to greater steering freedom confidence, quicker responsiveness and more assured braking.

The Crown Victoria Police Interceptor collars 85 percent of all police pursuit vehicle sales in the U.S. and Canada. Because of its rear-wheel-drive handling and ample seating and trunk, Crown Victoria is the pursuit vehicle of choice — providing balanced performance with comfort for the officers and plenty of storage for their equipment and gear.

The 1999 Police Interceptor collars 85 percent of all police pursuit vehicle sales in the U.S. and Canada. Because of its rear-wheel-drive handling and ample seating and trunk, Crown Victoria is the pursuit vehicle of choice — providing balanced performance with comfort for the officers and plenty of storage for their equipment and gear.

The 1999 Police Interceptor has a full, heavy-duty frame, 16-inch wheels and tires and larger brake rotors and pads with dual piston calipers, improved steering gear and Watt's linkage rear suspension.

For 1999, three changes were made to the Police Interceptor vehicle. The ratio on the rear axle was changed from 3.27 to 3.55 to improve low-end acceleration. The power steering was changed from a variable assist to a constant level of assist. And the Crown Victoria name will be removed from the police package and vehicle will be re-named Ford Police Interceptor. It will also feature blackout treatment on the grille, door handles and chrome strip moldings to identify it as a police vehicle. For law enforcement agencies who require vehicles for undercover work, Ford will offer a street appearance package in the Police Interceptor model.

Crown Victoria was introduced in the fall of 1978. It had calendar year sales of 107,872 in 1997. It is manufactured in St. Thomas, Ontario. In 1998, the plant received the Gold Plant Quality Award, North America from J.D. Power and Associates.

Dear Sherry,

All the Realtors, brokers and agents, at Re/Max Grand wish to thank you and Home Marketer for the wonderful service you have provided throughout the years.

Our advertising in Home Marketer has consistently brought in many calls and has proven to be one of the best marketing tools we use. We feel there is no better way to reach a wide range of clients and promote our services to both sellers and buyers than through using your publication.

Thank you,

The Re/Max Team

All of Us at Re/Max Grand

P.S. - Once again we are the proud sponsors of Toys for Tots. Please stop by our office with any new toy and make a needy child happy this holiday season. Thank you.

MOVING TIPS

- Before moving from your present address, have the following services discounted:
  - All utilities (gas, water, telephone, electric)
  - Garbage service
  - Local charge accounts
  - Lawn care
  - Cable TV
  - Newspaper deliveries
- Contact the utility companies in your new city about fees or deposits required. Remit these deposits with information about when and where you will want these services to begin.
- Send your forwarding address to your local post office. Send change of address cards to magazines, insurance companies, book clubs, stores and friends.
- Transfer your insurance policies so you'll be protected enroute and at your new home.
- Notify the principle of your children's school about your move. Ask for a letter covering your children's status at school.
- Get medical records of shots and eyeglass prescriptions. Ask your doctor and dentist to recommend someone in your new hometown.
- Transfer your bank account. Arrange for sufficient cash or travelers checks to cover the cost of moving services and other expenses.
- Take your time choosing a moving company. Ask for suggestions from friends and relatives. Get estimates from several companies at least one month ahead.
- To save the moving company's packing charge, be sure to use clean strong containers and label their contents: (No more than 50 lbs. per box) Books may be shipped parcel post to save money. Don't pack jewelry, documents or other valuables - carry them with you.
- Pets and plants need special care. The easiest way to ship a pet is to let a kennel do it for you. To fly on an airplane, your cat or dog will need a health certificate from your vet and it's a good idea to get some tranquilizers. For long cross-country car trips, pets must be fed and watered, have rest stops and be kept on a leash. Check hotels and motels in advance about rules on pets.
- Plants should be repotted in unbreakable plastic containers, pruned 2 weeks ahead and be pest free. (put in plastic bags for 8 hours in cool area with bug/pest strips or flea collar) Pack and cushion in cardboard, cover with moist paper towels and punch air holes in lid. Or just take cuttings in a plastic bag, wrapped in wet towels.
- Prepare your children emotionally for the move by reading them books about moving and showing them pictures of the new city and your new home. Give them a party to say good-bye to their friends. Give yourself a party, too, a month or two before you leave.

*Antioch artist brings nature,
Native American heritage to life*

Art is often more than meets the eye. For 48-year-old Dennis Downes, a 20-year Antioch resident and artist, this is the case for his work. Putting a great deal into researching backgrounds of his subjects takes up more of Downes time than the art itself.

"I focus on landscape and Native American, not just the southwest, but all of the United States," Downes said while taking a break in his makeshift studio housed in a former tavern on the Chain O' Lakes.

"I concentrate more on Native Americans in Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin," Downes explained. "I concentrate more on ancient things and the more ancient things they are discovering."

Several of Downes' works will be part of the Millennium Celebration display at the Lake County Museum through January 30. The Museum is located in the Lake-wood Forest Preserve on Route 176, just west of Fairfield Road, near Wauconda.

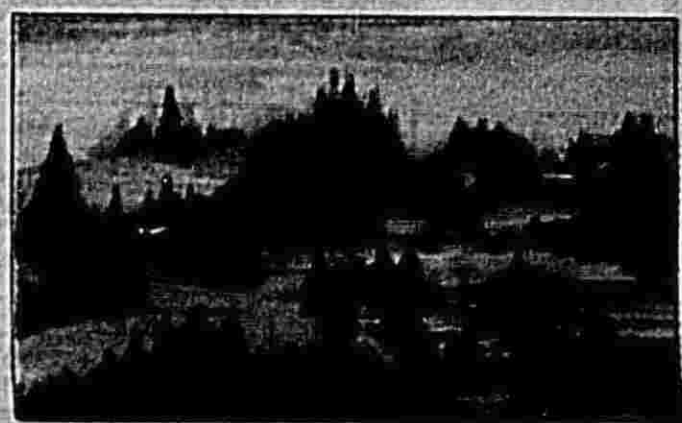

A reception with Downes in attendance is planned for 1:30-4 p.m. Dec. 5.

The Wauconda display concludes a year of 16 theme shows including Colorado,

New York and Wales, England. Three of Downes' tapestries were picked to be displayed at the Chicago Art Institute in April, 1999.

Ann Vojik of Warsaw, Poland, commented on Downes' work, "we feel honored to add his unique artwork to our permanent collection of fiber art."

Working with Ann McMulla of the Milwaukee Art Museum, Downes has been able to research some of his subjects.

The amount of detail in Downes' work has drawn international attention. An archeologist and geologist, both from Wales, invited him to their country to spend a few weeks hiking and exploring ancient ruins.

Horse markings, various painted formations on the animals, tell a lot about the particular horse. Downes explained warriors would stay away if a marking depicted a horse being particularly fast.

Trail marker trees, still found in Lake County and throughout the midwest, helped to guide the Native Americans. This is surprising since most of the Indians were driven from this area across the Mississippi River around 1832, according to Downes' research.

Direction of travel, locations of fresh water springs, villages and camp sites are among the depicted on the trail markers.

A bend in a particular way or two trees equally spaced could indicate certain things to the travelers, according to Downes.

These markings were extremely instrumental to safe travel on cloudy days or if stars were not visible at night. The markings helped keep travelers away from marsh areas.

"During my studying on the side, I've become somewhat of an expert," Downes said of marking identification. "I'm called out to differ-

Getting free stuff can be a gas

One of the great things about being a columnist is that sometimes you get free stuff. For example, last year I attended the annual fund-raising event for a local church. The event included food, drink and entertainment. I was hungry, and wanted a hot dog; but when I pulled out my food tickets to pay, I discovered I was short a few tickets. Luckily, the woman running the food counter turned out to be a fan of my column, and rather than making me go back and purchase more tickets, she told me the hot dog was "on her."

Cooooool, I thought, I must be famous! Only famous people get FREE stuff (why waste stuff on people who actually might need it?) It was then I figured I had reached the pinnacle of my success as a columnist.

Or so I thought until about nine months ago, when I became a member of the National Society of Newspaper Columnists (NSNC). At first, I was a little disappointed. Sure, I had my picture taken with Bob Greene, but it's not like he's calling me for lunch. Or anything else. And while I do receive a newsletter and get to go to their annual big party...oops, I mean "convention"...neither of these things are free.

LIFE'S A BEAR

What IS free, however, is a listing of my name and e-mail address on the NSNC website. Unfortunately, not even that benefit seemed like much at the beginning. Especially when, all of a sudden, I began receiving strange e-mails from people I didn't know, some of whom even wrote to me in foreign languages. I guess they think I write for a newspaper that employs foreign correspondents and translators.

Sure I do, if you consider northern Lake County a foreign country. Which, for those of us who have friends or relatives who live in Chicago, it might as well be.

Some e-mails were extremely serious, like the one I received recently from an angry person who thinks that Jane Fonda (referred to in this e-mail as "Hanoi Jane") might be named to a Ladies' Home Journal list of 100 influential women. Obviously, this person was under the impression that I am some kind of REAL journalist.

Obviously, this person never read my column.

But recently, my luck changed. Sort of. An e-mail arrived from Prism Publishing, announcing a new book titled "The Other 'F' Word," written by a Canadian lawyer/writer named Barry Seltzer with the help of his brother Erwin. The e-mail basically described the book as an attempt to enlighten and entertain people on the topic of society's last "taboo"—flatulence—and offered to send me a free copy. Obviously, they were under the impression that I am some kind of book reviewer.

Obviously, if the book is going to be sent to me free, I AM.

Plus, I was curious. I wanted to see how, exactly, the subject of "flatulence" could fill up an entire book. Not to mention "WHY."

So, I wrote back and said, "Thanks, I'll take a look at the book. Send me my FREE copy." And sure enough, a couple weeks later, the book arrived in my mailbox. Fortunately, it wasn't one of those "scratch and sniff" books. Ha, ha!

After reading the book, I would have to say that Mr. Seltzer did manage to compile an impressive array of material on the subject. I guess he was hoping that knowledge might remove society's reticence about it, so he included everything he could find on the subject: anecdotes, history, science, literature, the law and even several lists, one of which consisted of descriptions of 33 different cute names for the way that gas is passed.

All I can say to that is "Whoa! TOO MUCH information!"

Though I'm flattered (not to be confused with "flatulence") that the author wanted to send me a copy of his book, I realized after reading it that he probably should have stuck with male columnists.

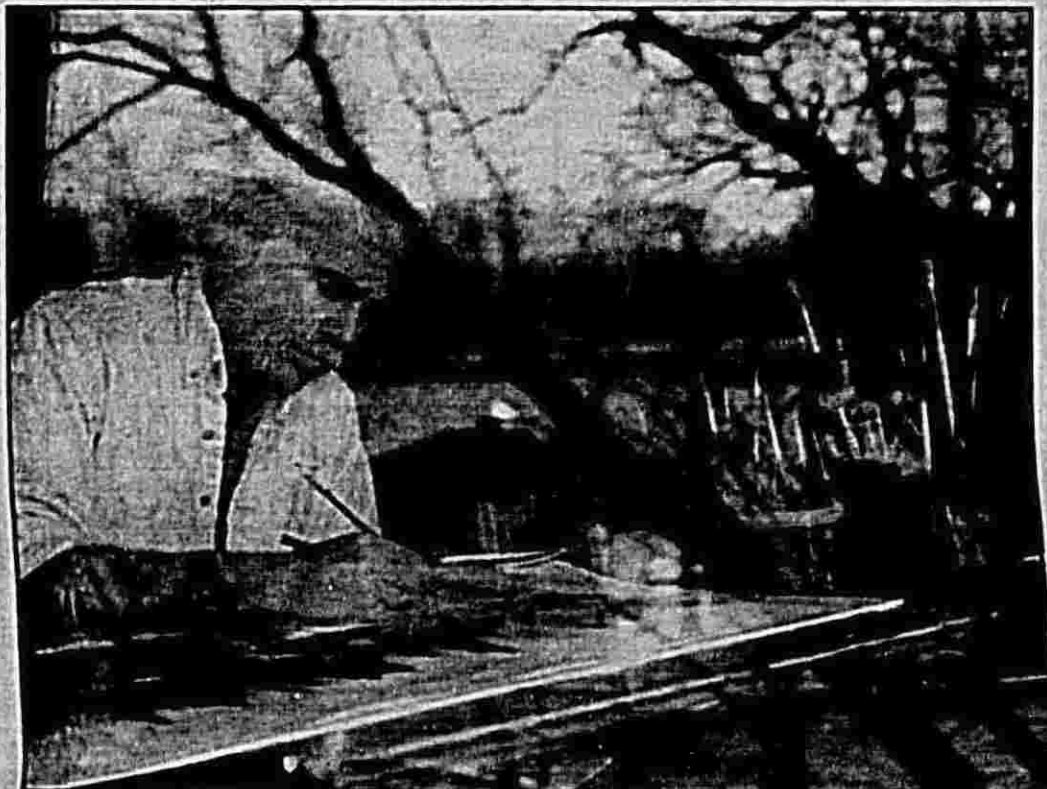

Why? Because I, like the majority of women I know, have never been afflicted with that embarrassing problem.

My dog Elvis, however, is another story.

Questions or comments for humorist Donna Abear can be sent to P.O. Box 391, Antioch, IL 60002.

WORDS: Artist inspired by county's beautiful landscape

ent areas to see if the markings are trails."

Spending time in the Minocqua, Trout Lake and Eagle River areas of Wisconsin keeps Downes in contact with some Native Americans. This helps him to obtain things like porcupine.

"They have about 30,000 quills," Downes explained. "I paint on paper that I make, with paint I make and use frames I make. Many of the steps include quills or parts of them."

Spending time looking for the less obvious is what Downes likes to focus on. An example is a painting entitled "Ridge Runner" depicting an Indian in war dress on the top of a rock cliff.

The inspiration came to Downes after spending a Tennessee River system trip of over 500 miles from Alabama to Tennessee aboard a restored boat.

"When I returned, people thought I'd do a painting of the boat winding along the river or something like that," Downes said. "Instead I did what I kept envisioning when I would look up."

"Don't be so concerned about what other people may want to paint and sculpt," Downes said of his creative philosophy. "Stick with what motivates you."

"You can become like a robot, and paint what is acceptable," Downes explained. "If you don't believe in it, other people will pick up on that."

"Never quit," Downes explained his advice to future artists. "It's not an easy thing."

When informing his family of his intention to be an artist, Downes was met with cautious encouragement. "My family encouraged me, but made it clear it was a very difficult path in life."

Downes spent many summers doing various odd jobs that would allow him time in the late fall, winter and early spring to paint.

Despite his family's cautious attitude, Downes credits his mother's background in particular, with fueling his interest in Native American history.

"My mother's people are Basque, Europe's oldest tribe," Downes explained. "The largest population of them have lived in Idaho for the past 150 years."

While growing up, Downes' summer vacations involved piling into the station wagon and driving from the midwest to Idaho.

"I can't get that out of my head," Downes admits. "I got taken to places other people would not get to go to. All of my relatives are outdoors people. I love living around the water."

Keeping his family heritage alive is one of Downes' admitted motivations. "I've gotten to meet a lot of different people. A lot of people are interested in our area of Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan," Downes said. "They're great areas to live."

"There's a lot more than the painting," Downes said. "There's the gathering of paints, growing of materials for the paints. I also do a lot of hiking."

Spending time outdoors, or looking out of his studio on his deck overlooking the water and country side, enables Downes to focus on one of the estimated 20 works he makes during a given year.

"When I walk in these areas, I can feel that thousands of people have been here before," Downes said with a big smile.

"You have to be careful what you dream about," Downes concluded.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Irish traditions featured

Come and experience 'Irish Traditions' with the Wheaton History Center. This holiday season, the Wheaton History Center will feature Ireland, past and present, in an exhibit called 'Irish Traditions.' From Celtic heritage, architecture and handicrafts to music and dance, the exhibit will provide an overview of the Emerald Isle while focusing on holiday customs.

A highlight of the tours and programs will be the McNulty Irish Dancers. The dancers will explain the traditional costumes and music of Ireland as well as performing traditional dance. Interpretive tours will be given on the following dates and times, where visitors will interactively learn about Irish traditions: Sunday, Dec., 5 at 2 p.m., Sunday Dec., 12 at 2 p.m. and Saturday, Dec., 18 at 11 a.m. Tours and programs will also be offered in January.

The Wheaton History Center is located at 606 N. Main at Lincoln Avenue and is open Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Museum admission is $1 for students and seniors, $2 for adults and $5 for families. For more information please call (630) 682-9472.

Family Fair to transform children into printmakers

Children, ages 5-12, and their parents will use the exhibition, 'Arthur Wesley Dow and American Arts & Crafts, as inspiration for creating their own art prints in the galleries at the monthly Family Fair to be held at Terra Museum of American Art, 664 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Dec. 5, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Participants will gather in the museum's main lobby and proceed to the galleries to view the exhibit, which features color woodblock prints from the arts and crafts movement. Afterwards, they will go to Terra Museum's Studio where they will learn how to create their own relief print using a press. There is no admission charge, but reservations are required. To register, call the Education Department at Terra Museum of American Art at (312) 654-2255.

The museum and museum store are open six days a week: Tuesday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, noon to 5 p.m. Admission for 'Arthur Wesley Dow and American Arts & Crafts' is $7 for adults and $3.50 for seniors. Admission is free to the public on Tuesday and the first Sunday of every month, and at all times to members, teachers, students, U.S. veterans and children under 12.

The exhibition is organized by The American Federation of Arts (AFA). Support has been provided by the National Patrons of the AFA. It is a project of ART ACCESS II, a program of the AFA with major support from the Lila Wallace-Reader's Digest Fund.

The Magic of the Nutcracker

Dancer North in Libertyville will once again bring to life Tchaikovsky's timeless holiday classic, "The Magic of the Nutcracker." This year marks the eleventh season for the performing arts school's acclaimed ballet production.

The Dancer North production features a cast of more than 150 singers, dancers, actors and gymnasts from the local area as well as a core group of professional performers. Adding to the "magic" is a sparkling array of colorful costumes and magnificent set designs.

"Each year we add something new," says executive director and choreographer Cheri Lindell. "This keeps the production fresh and exciting for everyone, even those who attend every year. There are always some surprises."

The production opens Dec. 11 and runs through Dec. 19, with six performances held at Libertyville High School's Butler Auditorium. Ticket prices range from $9 to $20, with discounts for groups with an official status, such as scout troops or church groups.

"We receive such tremendous support from the community," says Lindell. "Each year more and more people come to the performances, which is such a wonderful opportunity for the performers to display their talents."

Tickets from "The Magic of the Nutcracker" are on sale now. Call 367-7970 for more information.

Drake Theatre to present 'Charlotte's Web'

Latest Bond is a satisfying celluloid cliché

There are some critics who have said the new Bond movie is full of too many clichés. That it is not an enjoyable experience because it is a formula that has already been over-tried 18 other times.

We say poppycock. The new James Bond installment, "The World is Not Enough," which proceeded to kick the living daylight out of that Pokemon movie in its opening weekend, is presented in glorious Bond formula because that's what it should be. Honestly, imagine a Bond movie that isn't shaken, not stirred.

Lead actor Pierce Brosnan continues to show the new generation of fans that he is James Bond without concern for the nostalgic fans of the '60s. Along with yet another breathtaking opening sequence, the movie is full of beautiful women, ski chases, gadgets and crass non-PC double entendres, everything a Bond movie should have and more. Some high brow critics believe Bond's style of interpersonal relationships, particularly with women, were frozen in time 30 years ago. Fine and dandy, because the Bond movie machine already tried to re-shape the comic book appeal of Bond into a brooding real guy full of self doubt bent on revenge. It was called "License to Kill" and it was a calamity.

The movie involves a personal friend of M, (Oscar-nominated actress Judy Dench) being brutally murdered in climactic Bond movie style followed by a nail-biting boat chase. Beyond spectacular stunts, the chase also features James Bond straightening his tie while submerged to avoid certain death.

After M's friend is laid to rest, Bond thrusts himself into the case by forcing his hand to be assigned to protect the dead man's daughter, Elektra King (Sophie Marceau) who is, of course, beautiful. Bond believes Elektra will be the killer's next target. Her safety is tested almost immediately on a ski slope, where Bond shows he is almost better suited than on level ground.

Later, after dispatching one of his foes and assuming his identity, Bond ends up at a nuclear clean-up site. This is where he meets the latest Bond girl, nuclear physicist Dr. Christmas Jones (played by 27-year-old Downers Grove native Denise Richards of "Wild Things"). But her icy demeanor means she is not an automatic undercover operation for Bond, so the audience is left wondering, will she be thinking about the spy who loved me or if she'll instead be Dr. no.

Also introduced is one to the most intriguing Bond villains in some time, Renard, played by Robert Carlyle, a man who not only kidnapped Elektra King several years back but in the process wound up with a bullet lodged in his brain. The bullet will eventually kill him but, being the bad guy, he is benefited by the numbing of his sense of touch and his growing strength as the bullet slowly inches through his cerebral cortex. His version of hot potato should have audiences squirming at least slightly in their seats.

Through double-cross after double-cross, Bond eventually uncovers a plot to take over control of the flow of oil across Europe, a plot that naturally threatens thousands of lives.

Believable? Of course not. If you want that put a video camera in your kitchen and watch that tape for two hours. Bond is over the top and that is precisely why people plunk down their money.

Brosnan carries off with aplomb his license to kill as he dispatches an unarmed baddie as though he were ordering a vodka martini.

The one disappointment involved a fine actress such as Judy Dench being put in a position to look frail and weak. That's interesting because her character plight makes her look more like reality, which just plain doesn't fit the genre.

If you don't like Bond because he's not up to date with the social times, don't waste your time and money. But if the tried and true antics of 007 entertain you, this installment will not disappoint. Though "The World is Not Enough" is not necessarily great film-making, it is vintage Bond and for that we give it three out of five popcorn boxes.

Former model and Downers Grove native Denise Richards has the starring role as the latest bond girl, Dr. Christmas Jones. Viewers may remember her from "Wild Things" and "Starship Troopers."

es for a fun night at the movies.

But with Pierce Brosnan saying he is a free man, something he has since amended slightly, the only question left is will there be another Bond movie with him in the title role?

He's only 48 years old. Never say never again.

HOROSCOPE

Aries — March 21/April 20

You have a lot going on in your professional life this week, Aries, and the stress is taking its toll. Don't run yourself ragged. Take a few moments every day to relax. It's the only way that you'll be able to make it to Friday. The person whom you've been seeing needs to talk. Listen to what he or she has to say.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

Keep your temper under control when an acquaintance tries to upset you. He or she is just jealous of your recent accomplishments. Don't let this person get to you. It's not worth the frustration. You meet an interesting person late in the week. Get to know him or her better, because this person could become a close friend.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

You have to be patient this week, Gemini. There are a lot of things that you want completed, but you have to rely on others to accomplish them. Don't push people, or nothing will get done. Just try to relax. Everything will work out. Scorpio plays an important role late in the week.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

Your sense of humor will be appreciated by a loved one who gets into a bit of trouble this week. You cheer this person up and give him or her the motivation to get out of a difficult situation. An acquaintance reveals his or her true feelings for you. Let this person down gently; you don't want to hurt his or her ego.

Leo — July 23/August 23

Don't hold a grudge against a loved one who makes a mistake early in the week, Leo. He or she doesn't mean to upset you or cause you any harm. Try to understand that before you start yelling. The person whom you've been seeing asks you an important question. Be honest with him or her.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22

You're on the edge of your seat early in the week as you wait for important news from a close friend. Try not to get too jumpy. You're sure to hear exactly what you are hoping for by the week's end. A loved one needs your help with a personal matter. Be there for this person.

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23

Don't cry over spilled milk this week, Libra. You make a little mistake, but it's nothing serious. Don't beat yourself up about it. Just rectify the situation, and move on. A close friend invites you out late in the week. Say yes, because it's going to be a good time.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22

You have to stay calm on Monday, Scorpio, if you don't want a minor family situation to turn into a huge problem. Try to make everyone involved understand exactly what's going on. If you don't, they're sure to think the worst and get upset. While it's a difficult task, you're more than capable of handling it.

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

You run into an old friend this week, Sagittarius. Spend time catching up with him or her, because you both have a lot of news to share. You find out some very interesting information. A loved one needs a shoulder to cry on. Be there for him or her, because you know that this person would do the same for you.

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20

You have a lot to do this week, Capricorn. The only way that you're going to get anything done is if you stay focused. Don't let others distract you. Don't worry — if you work diligently, you'll get everything done before the weekend. Then, you'll have plenty of time to relax.

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18

Everyone seems to "need" something from you this week, Aquarius. Don't spread yourself too thin. Do what you can, but don't say yes to all those who ask. There's just not enough time in the week to help everyone. Don't worry — people will understand when you say no to them.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20

Keep your eyes and ears open when it comes to a family matter early in the week. Those close to you are hiding something. Try to find out what it is. You can help them deal with the situation. Pisces plays a key role.

Symphony presents classical guitarist Liona Boyd in recital

The Lake Forest Symphony presents Liona Boyd, Classical Guitarist in recital on Sunday, Dec. 4, at 3 p.m. at Adlai E. Stevenson High School Auditorium, Buffalo Grove.

Some of the selections will include Rodrigo's Adagio; Choros Typico by Villa-Lobos; Almeida's Samba/Choro for Lina; Danza Inca and Moorish Dance by Fortin as well as music written by Boyd.

Liona Boyd holds a unique position in the world of classical guitar. Through her composition talents, extensive international touring and nineteen record albums she has developed a loyal following and is acknowledged as one of the world's leading classical guitarists. Breaking with classical tradition, she has toured with Gordon Lightfoot and Tracy Chapman, and recorded with Roger Whittaker and Georges Zamfir.

As a soloist Liona became the first performer ever to play in the new Paris Opera House. She has performed for the British Royal Family, the King and Queen of Spain, the Presidents of the United States and Mexico, the Prime Ministers of Canada, France and Britain and the Chancellor of Germany, as well as for NATO and Summit Conferences.

Ms. Boyd will be signing her newly released book In My Own Key on Friday, Dec. 3 from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at B. Dalton booksellers, Lake Forest and on Saturday, Dec. 4 at 2 p.m. at Barnes and Noble, Old Orchard.

Tickets for the program are $30 and $15 per person. The Concert Sponsor is the Peter R. and Marina G. Carney Foundation.

For tickets or additional questions, please call or visit the Symphony office. Visit Ms. Boyd on her website at www.lionaboyd.com.

Book Fair raises funds for new facility

It's here! That time of year when we begin to plan holiday gift giving for family and friends. This year the Wheaton History Center will hold a Book Fair on Saturday, Dec. 4 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Barnes and Noble Book Sellers, 351 Town Square, Wheaton. Proceeds from the Book Fair will benefit the Wheaton History Center and their future hands-on center for history and education. Volunteers from the Center will be happy to personally gift-wrap your purchases free of charge at Barnes and Noble during the Book Fair as our way of thanking you for your support.

To support the Wheaton History

Center through a Book Fair purchase, customers should submit a printed voucher at the time of purchase at any store cash register. Vouchers may be obtained at the Wheaton History Center, 606 N. Main St., or by calling 630 682-9472. Depending on the total amount of sales, 15% to 25% will be donated to the Center. Gift Certificates will not be eligible for voucher use.

Together, with support from our community for events such as the Book Fair, the Wheaton History Center will continue to inspire an appreciation for Wheaton's heritage and to preserve it for future generations.

FALL Home & Garden '99

Choose building products that can withstand severe weather

If El Niño taught us anything, it's that unpredictable weather can strike at any time, in any part of the country. So, if you're thinking of doing some home fix-up or remodeling this fall, consider building products that can withstand the elements — especially when it comes to re-roofing your home. If you don't do it right the first time, you'll end up paying for it again, and again, and again.

Instead of a quick fix with a low-quality shingle, consider roofing materials that are built to withstand the elements, particularly high winds. A little education about your roofing purchase can mean all the difference between admiring the durability of your roof after a storm or picking up shingle pieces out of your neighbor's pool.

How To Identify Quality Shingles

How can you be more informed about your shingle purchase without getting out the chemistry book? First, you need to know what you don't want your shingles to do — blow off, crack or tear during severe weather conditions. A shingle's ability to withstand cracking and tearing are the most important benchmarks for measuring its quality.

The highly respected American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM) has developed voluntary guidelines (standard D3462) for shingle performance in varying weather conditions with regard to tear resistance. While meeting these guidelines can help assure you of a quality product, it does not guarantee total problem prevention.

Underwriters Laboratories (UL) backs this up by independently testing shingles and certifying whether they meet the ASTM requirements. This is your guarantee and proof that the shingles you are buying meet ASTM's high standards.

Don't Let Your Shingles Blow Away

In recent years, the severity of the storms that have hit the United States, especially in coastal regions, have prompted more stringent building-code requirements, particularly when it comes to high winds. Increasingly, there has been a call for shingle manufacturers to make shingles that can withstand the harsh elements of these storms. Today, most manufacturers warrant their shingles to withstand winds of 60 mph with a few offering coverage up to 80 mph. To find shingles that have higher wind warranties, you'd be entering rarified air — until now.

Recently introduced by CertainTeed Corporation, Hatteras® is a fiber glass asphalt shingle designed to withstand hurricane-force winds, with 10-year warranty protection against winds of up to 110 mph. Backed by a 40-year limited warranty against manufacturing defects and 10 years of coverage against algae growth, Hatteras features a unique color-blending process and deep 1-inch shadow lines to give it the depth and dimensionality of slate.

The shingle is available nationwide and comes in seven colors: Lighthouse Red, Windswept Gray (light gray), Stormy Night (dark gray), Outer Banks (black), Newport Green, Regatta Blue and Sandpiper (brown).

Quality Shingles For Any Budget

In addition to Hatteras, CertainTeed offers the most comprehensive lineup of fiber glass shingles to fit any budget. The CertainTeed Roofing Collection™ includes Grand Manor Shingle® and Carriage House Shingle™, extra-thick Super Shingle® products distinguished by their super-deep 8-inch tabs and two full-size base shingle construction, resulting in multiple layers of protection for your roof.

For shingles that offer depth and dimension for more moderate budgets, you might want to consider CertainTeed's Independence Shingle®, The Landmark™ Shingle Series or the Horizon Shingle®.

These dimensional shingles feature enhancing shadow lines and a wide range of color offerings that carry limited, transferable warranties with durations ranging from 25 to 40 years. For the budget-conscious who demand quality, CertainTeed also offers a full line of reliable three-tab shingle products.

Most important of all, CertainTeed offers fiber glass shingles (from a 20-year warranty duration to a lifetime warranty duration) that are tested and certified by UL to meet the ASTM guidelines for tear, wind and nail-pull resistance. So, when you see the UL label with the ASTM D3462 classification on the side of a bundle of CertainTeed fiber glass shingles, you know you're getting proven quality.

Where can I get more information?

To learn more, CertainTeed has put together a fall home-improvement package featuring the comprehensive guide, "Choosing a Reputable Roofer," a pocket reference brochure showcasing CertainTeed's entire line of quality shingle products, and literature describing the all-new Hatteras shingle. ### Garrett sponsors property tax forums

State Rep. Susan Garrett (D-Lake Forest) is offering two property tax assessment forums on Dec. 11. The meetings are open to the public and will allow taxpayers in Illinois' 59th District to ask questions directly of their assessors.

The first meeting will be held at 10 a.m. in the Lake Bluff Village Hall, 40 E. Center Ave., and the second will be at 2:30 p.m. in the North Chicago Public Library, 2100 Argonne.

Volunteers needed

The Lake County Forest Preserve needs volunteers to help chaperone a children's restoration and nature education program at the forest preserves near North Chicago, Waukegan and Beach Park through the 1999-2000 school year.

Jan Ward, forest preserve youth stewardship coordinator, is looking for people to work once or twice a month through spring.

Art sale planned

Hundreds of fine works of art created by about 50 Lake County artists will be on sale Dec. 4-7 at the College of Lake County's eighth annual holiday art sale, sponsored by the CLC Foundation. The sale will be held in the atrium outside the library at CLC, 19351 W. Washington St., Grayslake.

The sale will be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Dec. 4, 1 to 5 p.m., Dec. 5 and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Dec. 6 and 7.

County faces drought

Lack of rain worries farmers, gardeners

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

For most Lake County residents, the unseasonably warm dry weather this fall is a pleasant reprieve from the harsh realities of winter.

But the weather is also a source of worry to some local horticulturists and farmers. Lack of rain for much of the summer, and an unusually dry November, has many wondering about a drought next spring.

Kim Denny, owner of Highland Green Nursery in Grayslake, said many plants and trees are in distress because of lack of precipitation and an unusually long, warm fall.

"I think we have the potential for losing a lot of trees due to lack of water (in the spring)," said Denny.

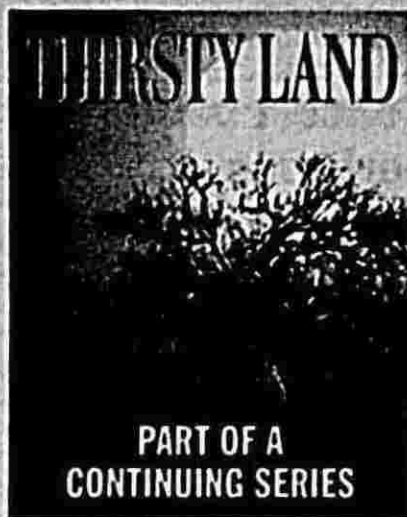

Denny said usually during the winter months when the ground is frozen, plants and trees go into dormancy to save precious water for the long winter months.

However, since the weather has been above freezing for most of the fall, the trees are still in need of water.

In 1995, Denny said Lake County lost many trees due to drought.

Citizens group seeks quick improvements to Route 21 snarl

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

A citizens group has asked the state to speed up the timetable for widening Illinois Route 21 from two lanes to four lanes and to provide full funding for the project.

Citizens to Protect the Quality of Life Through Transportation is urging the state to expand the 5 1/2 mile stretch of highway, also known as Milwaukee Avenue, between Washington Street and Route 137. While the state has announced plans to do the stretch, the group says funding has only been allocated for a portion of the project.

"What we're trying to do is put pressure on state and federal government for more transportation funding," said Dan Friedlander, a public relations representative for the organization.

The total cost to upgrade the stretch of Route 21 to four lanes is estimated at $44 million. There has been between $28 and $30 million budgeted to complete a portion of the road from Washington Street to just south of Route 120.

Friedlander said the group would like to see all of the road im-

University Center gets federal help

$3 million in federal funding secured for project at any site

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
Regional Editor

Lake County's efforts to establish a new University Center just got a major boost in the form of federal dollars.

County officials give much of the credit to U.S. Rep. John Porter in helping secure $3 million in federal funds for construction of the proposed University Center of Lake County.

"Thanks to our congressional delegates, especially Congressman John Porter, this appropriation helps assure this project will get done," County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle said.

Dave Kohn, a spokesman for Porter's office, said the congressman chairs the House Committee which oversees the budget for the U.S. Department of Education.

Porter attached an amendment to the education bill which provides $3 million in funding for the University Center.

CLC NOTES

Winter dance concert

The College of Lake County's Prairie Spirits Dance Theatre will present its winter dance concert titled "The Clearing" at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 10 and 11 and 2:30 p.m. on Dec. 12 in the Studio Theatre of the Performing Arts Building on the Grayslake Campus.

"The Clearing" is used as a metaphor for "sacred space," and the 20-plus members of the dance group will present dances that evoke concepts of sacred space derived from many traditions—Benin, Japanese, Native American and more.

Tickets are $5 general admission and $4 for CLC students, alumni and senior citizens age 55 and over. The program is free for children under age 10.

Prairie Spirits is a community dance group founded by Leslie Hopkins, a CLC instructor of philosophy and dance. The multicultural group consists of students, adults and children ranging in age from 8 to 50.

For tickets, call the box office at 543-2300. Visa, MasterCard, Discover and American Express are accepted.

Engineering Club holds egg drop contest

College of Lake County engineering students will use their creativity and engineering skills in the "Sunny Side Up Egg Drop Contest" at the College of Lake County on Dec. 2. The contest will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Brandel Court of the Grayslake Campus.

Contestants will be challenged to drop an egg from the second floor of the Brandel Court to a target (about 20 feet down) without breaking the egg. The container holding the egg may be made from plastic straws, rubber bands, pipe cleaners, string and glue. The device that weighs the least and lands closest to the target without breaking the egg will win the competition.

Cash awards and other prizes will be awarded to winners. The entry fee is $2. Although the contest is primarily designed for engineering students, anyone may participate. For information, call 543-2095.

Seminar on 'Quickbooks'

Hands-on instruction in using the popular business software "Quickbooks" will be provided in a one-day workshop from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Dec. 17 at the College of Lake County's Grayslake Campus.

Students will learn how to set up a company, work with lists, sell products, invoice for services, customize forms, process payments, work with bank accounts, enter and pay bills, create reports and graphs, track and pay sales tax and more. The seminar will be conducted by Arnie Petersen, a CLC instructor and a consultant with expertise in Quicken, Quickbooks, MS Word, MS Excel, Pagemaker and the Internet.

The cost is $160. To register, call 543-2033 or fax to 223-9371. The program is sponsored by CLC's Small Business Development Center and the Computer Learning Center.

Jazz ensembles free concert

The College of Lake County's Monday and Tuesday Night Jazz Ensembles will pay tribute to the great big bands of the century in a free concert on Dec. 9.

The concert, directed by band director Bruce Mack, will be held at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 9 in the Mainstage Theatre of the Performing Arts Building. The program will feature the music of Buddy Rich, Count Basie, Thad Jones, Maynard Ferguson, Woody Herman and Stan Kenton.

For information, call 543-2300.

Concert band performs

The College of Lake County's Concert Band will present a free concert at 4 p.m., Dec. 12 in the Mainstage Theatre on the Grayslake Campus. The group, which consists of students and community residents, will perform a variety of classical, popular and holiday selections. For more information, call 543-2300.

Musical celebration for children

"Jingle Bell Express," a musical celebration of the winter holiday season, will be presented at 2 and 4 p.m. on Dec. 5 in the C-wing auditorium at the College of Lake County. The family program, suited for all ages, will feature music, performance and fun. Tickets are $3 all seats. Advance ticket purchase is recommended. Call the box office at 543-2300 for tickets.

AT A GLANCE

Center starts 'Gift of Giving'

Lindenhurst—The Lindenhurst Early Childhood Center is sponsoring programs designed to help children and their families during the holidays.

One program is called "The Gift of Giving". This provides people in need with a few items.

According to Frank Davis, Executive Director of the Lindenhurst Early Childhood Center, the program is set up as three different steps.

First, people bring in old clothing and used toys. A box in the hallway of the Childhood Center, at 309 Granada Blvd., is set up for people to place their donations in.

Then, people bring in a new toy to the center and place it in the box labeled "new toys" for a Christmas Eve hospital delivery to children.

The final step in the program is to have willing families bring in toiletries and canned goods.

Two officers elected to IPA

Round Lake Heights—In a rare event, two members of the Round Lake Heights Police Department have been elected to the Illinois Police Association (IPA).

Chief Don Johnson was elected third vice president, and officer David Kirk was elected chairman of the IPA North Shore Division. Both will serve two year terms.

They will be sworn-in at a ceremony on Dec. 7 in Elmwood Park.

The IPA has approximately 13,000 members state-wide and was formed in 1901 as the first police association in Illinois to exchange knowledge; support fellow departments and officers; foster high professional standards; and seek pension laws for retired and/or disabled officers and their dependents.

Referendum meeting to be held

Round Lake—Round Lake School District 116 will hold its first referendum meeting on Dec. 6 at 6:30 p.m. in the high school library to discuss overcrowding.

The district hopes to get their share of Illinois FIRST funding. An expansion project has been submitted to the Illinois Capital Development Board, which agreed to pay over $7 million toward added class space.

In order for the grant to be awarded, the district must pass a referendum March 21, 2000, confirming that the community is willing to bear its share of the expansion's total cost.

Power plant meeting on cable

Wadsworth—A tape of the public information meeting regarding peaker power plants held in Wadsworth on Nov. 9 will be aired on cable channel 19 Dec. 4 at 7 and 10 p.m., and again on Dec. 5 at 10 p.m.

Discussion included deregulation of the electric power industry in Illinois; explained what a peaker plant is; described a typical site plan; and reviewed the permit approval and zoning process.

Topics included air and noise pollution, water usage, wastewater, wetlands and floodplains, compatibility, property values, economics and public need.

Grant organizes for referendum effort

Fox Lake—The first building expansion since 1972 and an a proposed education fund tax rate drew an audience of about 50 persons to Grant High School.

School officials stated their case for a $13 million bond on the March 21 referendum.

"We have held the line for a long time. The last building fund increase was in 1972. The last education fund tax rate attempt was in 1989," Dr. John Benedetti, GCHS superintendent, said.

If successful, the earliest additional space could be completed is August, 2002.

Warren achieves perfect assessment

Gurnee—Warren Township residents can actually feel good about their 1999 property tax assessments.

Back in time

For the first time in Lake County history, a perfect assessment has been achieved by one of its 18 townships.

Warren Township Assessor Carol Stried and her staff of seven professional assessors are credited with the record-breaking accuracy of over 20,000 assessments.

Parks could face legal battle

Grayslake—Ross Goodrich, a commissioner on the Grayslake Park District Board, feels that the district's agreement to accept a golf course in the new Carillon North subdivision could bring legal trouble.

The agreement between the district and DHC Cambridge Homes, Inc. gives preferred tee times to residents of the subdivision. This is illegal because preferential use of public land is given to a specific group.

Goodrich also feels that the district is not able to handle the financial responsibility of a golf course.

School proposes plans for new building

Mundelein—The Fremont Elementary District 79 Board of Education approved a development plan for a proposed school. At the same time, the finance committee is drafting a referendum for the March 21, 2000 ballot to support the construction.

Head architect Randy Gibson presented a plan to the board that outlined building location and changes in parking and circulation routes. Gibson integrated public concerns, voiced at an open forum, into the plan.

The finance committee is working to draft a referendum that is acceptable and has minimal impact on the public, and meets the needs of the district. The finalized version of the referendum will be released in mid-December.

Teens arrested for paintball drive-bys

Libertyville—Suburbia may have developed its own form of drive-by shootings. Three teens were arrested Nov. 24, after shooting at least two people with paintballs fired from a slingshot.

At 9:30 p.m., officers were called by a man who claimed to have been pelted with a paintball while standing outside the Liberty Theatre, 708 N. Milwaukee Ave. A second victim reported being shot by the perpetrators while driving on Milwaukee Ave. around the same time.

Scott H. Edidin, 18, of 1206 Ballantrae, Mundelein, was arrested for disorderly conduct and battery. Richard S. Saunders, 17, of 1804 Josilyn Ct., Libertyville, was arrested for disorderly conduct. Brittany V. Norton, 17, of 309 Laurel Ave., Libertyville, was arrested for disorderly conduct.

Edidin and Saunders were given a Waukegan court date of Dec. 14. Norton was given a Lakehurst Branch court date of Dec. 22.

Beaubien announces candidacy on tails

Mundelein—Rep. Mark Beaubien (R-Wauconda) announced his re-election campaign at a news conference Nov. 24. The conference came on the heels of opponent Bob Freese's allegations of misrepresentation by the 52nd district representative.

After announcing he would seek the Republican nomination for Beaubien's seat, Mundelein's Freese accused Beaubien of voting "liberal." Various civic leaders attended the event to support Beaubien's reputation as a quality leader.

"I asked these leaders to please stand with me... if they believe I am truly representing the sensible values of the people of our district," said Beaubien.

About 40 people attended the conference, including mayors and other community leaders. Sen. William Peterson (R-Prairie View), Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville), Rep. Sidney Mathias (R-Buffalo Grove) and supervisors from Avon, Elmhurst, Grant, Wauconda and other townships attended.

Wauconda miffed at no phone book listing

Wauconda—Wauconda officials' ire was raised when the listing for their town's phone numbers was apparently left out of a telephone book.

"I called to see if my name was correct because I dropped Schaeffer," Gail Wittenburg, village trustee and business owner, said.

Much to her surprise, her name was not listed. Apparently, none of the numbers in the zip code of 60084 were listed.

"Ameritech told me that there would be a supplemental listing for Wauconda. I asked for a mailing and they said it would take two weeks. I think I will lose a lot of business out of this," Wittenburg said.

"This is ridiculous. We have never had anything like this happen before. We will have an in-depth look into this," Wauconda administrator Fred Dierker said.

Health regulators do the right thing

Illinois' much maligned health care bureaucracy, often criticized for piling on unnecessary red tape regulating expansion of the health care industry, gave quick approval to two applications for open-heart surgery to be conducted in Lake County. Score points for good sense displayed by state regulators.

Both Condell Medical Center in Libertyville and Highland Park Hospital sought approval for open-heart surgery before the Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board created several decades ago to bring some semblance of order in the environment of hell-bent competition among Illinois hospitals that was driving up health costs at alarming rates. Approval of one application was anticipated. Rejection of both applications would not have been considered unusual.

To the surprise of administrators at both hospitals, the regulatory agency gave the green light for both bids, approving the Condell application unanimously and endorsing the Highland Park program 11-3. Several Cook County hospitals opposed the applications on the grounds of insufficient patients in the northern suburban area.

Condell met guidelines for approval two years ago. Highland Park Hospital offered strong evidence supporting Lake County need. Dr. Craig Dean, director of Condell's emergency services, offered the most telling argument, emphasizing that every minute counts when cardiac intervention is required. An estimated 800 persons leave Lake County every year for emergency open-heart surgery.

The planning board did the right thing. Cardiac patients here and in neighboring communities by mid-summer 2000 will get the treatment they require within minutes, not an hour or more that it takes now to get to a heart center in Cook County.

TIFs 'new life' clouds dark side

Officials of two Lake County municipalities have visions of sugar plums dancing before their eyes during this Christmas season all because of tax increment financing (TIF), an Illinois statute that permits them to confer tax favored status to developers in the name of economic development.

Often misused and abused, TIF enabling legislation was enacted by the General Assembly more than two decades ago to give Illinois cities and villages legal machinery to restore unproductive land, typically abandoned industrial sites or slums, to the tax rolls. The letter and intent of the law has been subverted countless times by growth happy officials to fast-track new building by taking advantage of tax angles and below-marketing funding.

In a classic TIF endeavor, North Chicago council members will make the Yuletide extra merry this year by designating 385 acres of industrially zoned land for special tax and funding treatment. Mayor Jerry Johnson regards the TIF as a "magic bullet" to spark an economic resurgence of factory building and creation of new jobs.

With sprawling office parks and upscale residential enclaves, Lincolnshire hardly fits the mold of a community in need of economic revitalization. There are pockets of sub-standard property in the village, though, that constitute the proverbial thorn in a bed of roses. Village officials long have sought to utilize TIF advantages to provide the impetus for creating a traditional town center with a gathering place and retail stores. The long sought concept of a "downtown" now is materializing on the wings of a network of investment partnerships, TIF features and land incentives provided by village government.

Developers now are in the final phases of lining up investors for what is regarded as Lake County's largest non-industrial TIF, 56 acres in two sites with Old Half Day Rd. bisecting North Village Green and South Village Green. There will be space for 80 condominium units, a 50,000 square-foot supermarket, a restaurant and retail/office uses plus ample parking. The process has been described as "building a town" in one swoop. Use of creative financing was envisioned a number of years ago. There are only 11 years left on the TIF so there is an urgency to act now.

The driving force of a TIF is the "tax freeze" feature where real estate values are locked in for the life of the TIF. New incremental values created by development accrue to the sponsoring municipal agency. Growth covers costs for investment in land or infrastructure improvements.

The North Chicago and Lincolnshire TIFs put two different faces on the same law. But both spell new life. That's why perceived abuses of a broadly interpreted law aren't likely to gain foot.

HOW A PARTIAL LEAF-BURNING BAN WOULD'VE WORKED...

VIEWPOINT

Atlanta revolts at commuting life

Atlanta, hub of the New South and a Mecca for yuppie management types seeking escape from mid-western winters, is exporting a new development concept that is worth noting in sprawl-suffering Lake County.

Winning plaudits from planners and politicians is the walker-friendly "mini city" where homes, offices and shops are clumped together on one site. A prototype now is taking place on the 144-acre wasteland of a former steel plant close to downtown Atlanta.

Lake County commuters used to enduring three-hour daily commutes groan when learning of a "dramatic jump" in Atlanta's average daily commuting time from 80 to a projected 90 minutes.

A young thing who complained to a national newspaper that she and her husband "are too young to spend our lives in the car" won't get much sympathy hereabouts. A reporter found more and more young Atlantans are rejecting the commuter's life for closer-in housing even if it is more expensive than the suburbs.

What the female half of a two-income family found "intolerable" was 20 hours of weekly commuting. She ought to board a Chicago-bound Metra in Antioch or Fox Lake every morning. Or try driving downtown from a home in Gurnee or Libertyville.

While local officials gnash their teeth over gridlock, perpetually seeking new ways to ease crowded highways, word out of Atlanta is that planners pretty much have given up on solving traffic congestion. Open areas in the 10-county Atlanta metro area are giving way to more and bigger shopping malls accessible only by auto.

The uncommon growth in personal wealth provides for "private mobility" in the south land's biggest city, so the planners say, meaning that people can live wherever they choose, if they are willing to pay the price.

Metro Atlanta may be a lot different than Lake County, magnolia blooms notwithstanding. But we do have one thing in common. Land owners are fighting officialdom tooth and nail to prevent politicians from creating "town centers" and walker friendly communities that would prevent them from selling their land to developers. Sound familiar?

Early start

State Sen. Bill Peterson (R-Long Grove) revealed that a secret of his success in politics is having a large family. Lots of "built-in campaign workers." That and an early start, like his son, Mark, who broke in at age 5 helping deliver political literature for his dad. Now grown, Mark is a key aide in his father's busy public life. Petty officer party

For petty officers, the people who make "things happen" in the Navy, 2000 will be a landmark year. On April 1, the 700 some members of the Great Lakes Petty Officers Assn., will stage their first formal dress ball in celebration of the 107th anniversary of Congress creating the rank. Command Master Chief Duffy Merrill, senior PO at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, reports that Marriott Lincolnshire resort has been reserved for the occasion. Merrill said the senior enlisted leadership at Great Lakes is going all out to make the event a memorable occasion. Other good news from CMC Merrill is that morale is high among petty officers, despite Dept. of Defense draw downs of personnel and reduction of resources for career sailors on active duty.

Cutting charity

Libertyville Township is taking a hard look at social services funding. Townships are not mandated to fund for social purposes other than general assistance. By practice, though, most of the county's 18 townships hand out donations at every meeting for a wide variety of purposes. Supervisor Mike Graham wants to cut Libertyville's participation to $55,000 for a six-month period. On his personal "approved" list are PADS, Libertyville Civic Center, Open Door, Serenity House, Senior Council, special recreation and LIFE, which funnels money to all churches in the township except Marytown's Maristella, a provider for the

Allowing a riverboat is a gamble

The issue of a riverboat in Fox Lake is not a debate over gambling, because gambling will exist whether it comes to Fox Lake or not. It is a debate over what we, the citizens of the community, perceive Fox Lake to be and what we want it to become. The sole reason given to local communities by gambling interests is economic development for economically depressed communities.

The United States Congress authorized and created the National Gambling Impact Study Commission (NGISC) in 1996. They were told to produce an objective comprehensive and factual study of the social and economic impacts of legalized gambling on states, tribes, communities and individuals. Their members are well represented by people from the academic, medical, regulatory and gambling community. Interestingly, they found almost all previous studies were of little value, as they were done for and by people who had a vested interest in the out-

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKE LAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Hoogasian, Hall eye Circuit Court seats

Members of two prominent Waukegan families in law, politics and civic service will collide in the wide open Republican primary election next March to select nominees for the 19 District Circuit Court.

Atty. Claudia Aho Hoogasian, 55, has announced her intentions to seek the seat vacated upon the untimely death of her husband, Circuit Judge Jack Hoogasian, this fall.

Associate Judge Dave Hall, 47, is circulating nominating petitions for circuit judge. Hall was appointed an associate judge in 1989.

Both Hoogasian and Hall are Waukegan natives. Hoogasian now resides in Lake Forest. She grew up in a family active in politics and community service. Her late father, Tyasto, served on the County Board. Her late mother, Tagne, was a member of the Waukegan High School Board of Education.

Hall is a fourth generation Waukegan resident and the third generation to practice law.

Battling Betty

Betty Lou Reed, one of the most popular state representatives ever to represent Lake County, has battled the effects of a lingering illness and is looking forward to helping Mark Kirk win the GOP nomination for Congress from the 10th District. Reed worked for retiring Congressman John Porter and Kirk, a Kennilworth resident, served as Porter's chief of staff in Washington.

Likes support role

Joel Jody Gingiss says he has

Hoogasian: After his death, wife, Claudia is seeking his Judgeship

Cohen: Will not crowd race for Porter's vacancy

no intention of running for office again. After retiring from his family's formal wear business, the Highland Park resident was unsuccessful in an attempt to unseat State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-Highland Park). Gingiss vowed he will be among Republican leaders working to keep the 10th District Congressional seat sought by Gash in the Republican column.

Faust returns

After being absent last year, White Sox organist Nancy Faust was back at the keyboard entertaining at the pre-holiday brunch honoring State Sen. Bill Peterson (R-Long Grove). They're long-time friends. Faust helped Peterson launch his political career.

Kohn staying

The crack team of staffers Congressman John Porter put together is breaking up now that he has decided to retire. Dave Kohn, Porter's long-time press aide, is entering private business, but won't be leaving his Mundelein home or vacating his seat on the Diamond Lake School Board of Education. Kohn has been a fixture in Lake County since his days with radio station WKRS. As indicated above, Betty Lou Reed has retired from Porter's Deerfield office.

Calling it quits

The first Democrat to announce his candidacy for U.S. Rep. John Porter's seat has now dropped out of the race.

Chris Cohen, an attorney from Glenoe, announced he planned to run against Porter earlier this year. In September, he said several party officials endorsed his candidacy at a nomination convention in Deerfield.

However, with Porter's unexpected departure from the race, other Democratic candidates have begun to enter the fray.

State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-Deerfield) recently announced she would run for the congressional seat and appears to be the front-runner on the Democratic side.

When a madman hijacks a plane

One of the theories as to why EgyptAir Flight 990 plummeted into the Atlantic Ocean on Oct. 31 is that a backup co-pilot decided to end his life and take 216 other people with him.

As we all have heard, the cockpit voice tape records Capt. Gameel el-Batouty as saying, "I made my decision now," and then repeating a dozen times, "I put my faith in God's hands."

If, indeed, he caused the crash, we can only wonder how a person can become so deranged that he has no regard for the precious lives of others.

Two friends of mine had their lives taken away in a similar senseless tragedy.

Neil and Mary Webb were in their fifties, successful and surrounded by a beautiful brood of children and grandchildren. Neil had retired from his work as president of St. Norbert College in De Pere, Wis., and they were looking forward to the happy years ahead.

Neil and I had been roommates for four years at Marquette University. When he became president at St. Norbert he hired me as the college's public relations guy. So we worked together for a while and it was fun. But I missed the newspaper game so much I had to get back in.

Twelve years ago this week I picked up a newspaper and read that a commuter plane in California had crashed on its flight from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

David Burke, 35, a ticket agent recently fired by the airlines for theft, had boarded the plane with a pistol and possibly some explosives. He apparently had been waved past a Los Angeles airport security checkpoint because he was known to the agents.

Burke's plan was to kill another passenger — the boss who had fired him — never mind that he would be ending his own and 41 other lives, too, when the four-engine jet screamed down, slammed into a hillside and disintegrated.

THE PFARR CORNER

As I read about that disaster, I came upon these paragraphs:

"Among those killed were James Sylla, the president of California's largest corporation, Chevron USA, and Wolfgang Studemann, a German space physicist and one of the world's experts on Halley's comet."

"Other victims included Neil Webb, former president of Wisconsin's St. Norbert College, and his wife, Mary."

The man who killed Neil and Mary, and all of the other decent and trusting people on that plane, was described by co-workers as being personable and pleasant, a man who loved his job.

He had several children by four women, none of whom he married. Police in Rochester, N.Y., linked him to investigations of marijuana smuggling and car theft.

More recently, a hidden camera had recorded him pocketing $69 of the airline's money, the reason he was fired. Lax security allowed him to board that plane and kill his boss, Neil and Mary, and 39 others.

How suddenly and senselessly precious lives can be snuffed out by someone gone berserk.

My friends had so much to live for, and I can only imagine the terror that engulfed the passengers of that plane when they realized a madman with a gun was aboard and was going to send them to a horrible death.

The committee's focus was much broader, but according to its findings the economic impact of gambling is a mixed bag and seems to work best in truly economically depressed communities. Yet, they also acknowledge that in 1998, in an era of prosperity, Atlantic City's unemployment still stands at 12.7 percent well above the national average, even though gambling was legalized there in 1978.

Closer to home the study also points out, unlike Las Vegas, where 85 percent of the gambling revenue comes from out of state visitors, the same 85 percent revenue produced by Illinois riverboat feeds off of people within a 50-mile radius. These are "day trippers" not tourists, and not people who will stay and spend additional money at local businesses outside the casino. The study also showed property values although positive for the immediate commercial property, is either neutral or negative on residential property. The increased vehicle traffic will require increased infrastructure expense. Then add more policeman to handle the increased number of people coming to the riverboat which will increase the amount of crime in the community, even if the percentage per capita remains the same.

Currently Fox Lake is a family-oriented community of 8,700 on the Chain O'Lakes. Ask the community at large, does a riverboat fit their image of what they want for Fox Lake? When asked what additional services they want to see come to their village, how many families do you think will suggest riverboat gambling? How many realtors and developers will look at a riverboat gambling as something they can use to attract new families to move into the area? How many local businesses do you think will benefit from a riverboat? Have you gone to the Elgin boat and did you patronize another Elgin business before you left? Should Fox Lake residents settle for even a neutral impact on property values, much less the possibility of a negative impact? How much additional traffic will Route 12 support without a major overhaul? How will you and your family cope with a 24 hour a day, seven day a week gambling operation in your backyard?

People must realize that allowing a riverboat in Fox Lake will forever change the landscape of this small community. So choose wisely, because you will not be able to go back. The question is, does the benefit justify the cost? From what I see so far, it doesn't even come close. Fox Lake, like Barrington and Antioch, should show Lake County Riverboat Limited Partners the door. The National Gambling Impact Study Commission (NGISC) study is available on the internet at www.ngisc.gov.

On replacing Porter

What is the best way to thank Congressman John Porter for his years of principled and independent representation? I say it's by finding and electing his most qualified replacement. Here's a way to do that.

I urge this newspaper to develop and publicize a political forum that invites the community to debate this campaign as a regular column on these pages. Candidates for the nomination and final election would submit statements of policy and position on the important issues that affect our lives and those of our children. Opposing candidates, citizens and journalists would then have the opportunity to question and comment in this ongoing community dialogue of ideas. It would work like the discussion groups we now use on the Internet. This approach would then culminate in live debates.

Before television, political debate was a celebration of American democracy as an outdoor festival, replete with music, food and talk. It can be that way again. Lake County citizens could show the nation how a free and well-educated people elect their representatives. Or we could choose the following more cynical approach.

Why don't we just give the job to the candidate who raises the most money. Then, sparing us those mindless campaign ads, we have them give all the cash to charity. The money would be spent constructively for a change and like the submissive Eloi in H.G. Wells, "The Time Machine," we wouldn't have to get brain strain figuring out the answer to the question that is really at the heart of campaign finance reform: Is the money being contributed to gain the public good or simply to promote a private greed?

Frank Lloyd Wright referred to more than just architecture in his statement, "First we form our structures, then our structures form us."

The methods we choose to nominate and elect our representatives are the structures that will eventually determine the very nature of the communities in which we live.

Jesse White 'Wash'

I think we made two mistakes in 1998 when we elected the George Ryan-Jesse White team.

Glenn Poshard said Ryan's mismanagement resulted in the deaths of six kids in Wisconsin. The press lambasted Poshard, but he was right.

Al Salvi said in the summer of 1998 that "corruption" in the Secretary of State's office was "widespread." Ryan responded by helping his friend Jesse White, and Al Salvi's honest comments probably cost him the election. Salvi was ahead in the polls until he made that statement.

We didn't believe Glenn Poshard, and we didn't listen when Al Salvi talked about his plans to immediately implement "Operation Clean Sweep." Jesse White's spokesman at the time responded to the Chicago Sun Times by saying, "I don't know why Al Salvi says corruption is widespread."

White has belatedly adopted watered-down versions of Salvi's license plate and line-reduction plans. But on the corruption issue, he's turned into Jesse-White-wash.

White kept Ryan's cronies. It took him seven months to hire a new "inspector general" who turned out to be a political hack who was previously fired for taking bribes.

Now, other than responding to federal subpoenas, White does nothing that can hurt his friend, George Ryan.

More than a year after the 1998 elections we still wait, in long lines, for the federal government to clean up the mistakes we made in the last election.

Talk about 'Bait and switch'

If the United States Government was SEARS, the U.S. Federal agencies would be on their case right now, like a fresh coat of paint. The media would eat it up.

There would be fines, there would be penalties, and SEARS would probably go out of business. The U.S. Government would say "it was criminal" the way they "promised something on the condition the people would buy," and "isn't it good we put SEARS out of business?"

Good job. But, when the U.S. enlists THOUSANDS of men and women, and then SWITCHES what was promised them, it's ok. But then, the VA is above penalties, right?

And, you wonder why enlistment is at an all time low.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

People: The key to profit, performance and peace

The need to hire and keep quality employees is a growing problem facing small-business owners today. Businesses never outperform the people who work there.

In the last few weeks we've received many calls in our office on this topic. Therefore, I want to share some thoughts on attracting people who will improve your business performance, increase your profits and help your peace of mind.

Step One: Create a place where people want to work. While every person is unique, most potential employees are looking for similar rewards. They want an interesting place to work where they can use their education and skills. They desire to make decisions and feel valued for their accomplishments and progress. They need room to grow, potential for advancement and fair wages and benefits.

You can create that place by making work fun and flexible. Work should be a game. You must explain the game, define the rules and celebrate your wins. Flexibility is a philosophy that focuses on results rather than policies and procedures. If you really want to keep good people, give them options and let them have fun.

Step Two: Know what you need. A common problem in the hiring process is mismatching people and positions. This often leads to unhappiness between both parties and causes an employee to look for other opportunities. You can eliminate most of this problem by creating job descriptions that define the responsibilities and requirements of the job. List the education skills and abilities needed to get the job done. Keep this short and simple and focus on the fundamentals.

Step Three: Start early. The more urgent your need, the more likely you are to hire the wrong person. Begin the search for future employees before you actually need them. Look for people who have the attitude, character, education and skills that you need.

Step Four: Know where to look. Where are the best people? Working for good companies, good organizations and good families. How do you find them? By using a network of your best employees, customers and suppliers.

Don't count solely on the classifieds. Remember that many of the most desirable people are already working. Most aren't pouring over the "Help Wanted" ads. Use your network, keep your eyes open and be creative.

Step Five: Know what to look for. Quality people have some common traits. I've learned to look for high self-esteem, positive attitudes, strong communication skills, enthusiasm, a good sense of humor, personal pride and integrity.

If I can't have it all, I'll start with positive attitudes and integrity. I'll never hire a person without these two characteristics.

Step Six: Hire tough. It is better to hire no one than to hire the wrong one. Here are some tips on hiring tough. First, create a plan for your interviews. Second, find out what the applicant has done, why he or she did it and how well it was done. Third, prepare the right

Expect TIF to spark North Chicago renewal

Mayor works to shed underdog status by using development

By BILL HENRY
Business Writer

Taking a bite out of Lake County's highest unemployment rate could be accomplished before year's end.

That would come about in North Chicago with enactment of tax increment financing (TIF) for a 385-acre industrial site, according to first-term Mayor Jerry Johnson, the restless, on-the-go executive who is determined to enter the new millennium by throwing off his city's chronic underdog status.

Johnson calls the TIF project, in the making for two years, North Chicago's "magic bullet," a kick start to an all-out renewal effort symbolized by major remodeling of city hall.

"My goal is to create new jobs and raise our tax base," Johnson said. He considers a 8.4 percent unemployment rate unacceptable, especially when the rate for Lake County as a whole is 3.7 percent.

As word spreads that North Chicago is getting ready to create a large tax advantaged TIF district, Johnson is getting calls regularly from prospective industry. Typical, he says, is a recent inquiry from a packaging firm that would bring 200 jobs and need for a new 200,000-square-foot plant.

Johnson took office in 1997 after the city council—known for its battles both in the open and behind closed doors—reduced the office of mayor to parttime pay status. "That hasn't stopped me from working full-time, though. I love my job," Johnson exults.

Combining pride with achievement, Johnson ticked off a string of accomplishments in a status report talk before the North Chicago Chamber of Commerce.

County's first Administrative Hearing Court, a lower-level judicial device designed to handle local grievances in an efficient manner. Solving disputes like a neighborhood protest of a boom box is typical of court fare, the mayor mentioned.

There has been a dramatic drop in North Chicago crime rate, Johnson reported. "The addition of 10 more officers has paid off," the mayor exclaimed.

Mayor Johnson is proud that North Chicago has the lowest water rates of any municipality in Lake County, a benefit to both homeowners and businesses. He said the council is addressing an archaic rule that requires city employees to live in North Chicago. "Where you live has nothing to do with how you do your job," Johnson declared.

Johnson chuckles at his personal guage for determining city progress. "We've got quiet council meetings now. Attendance is low." Formerly, council meetings were considered "the best show in town." Chambers were packed frequently.

Although council meetings now are business-like and tranquil, Johnson still scored what he called "hypocrits who only want to disrupt things."

As the mayor for the new millennium, Johnson refuses to tolerate distractions on his way to bringing North Chicago in line with other communities in Lake County as a desirable place to live and work.

Local printer takes top prize in International Competition

RPP Printing Enterprises, Inc., Libertyville, won top honors in Printing Industries of America's 1999 Premier Print Awards, the industry's largest, oldest and most prestigious worldwide graphic arts competition. Of the 944 companies entering, RPP Printing was one of 62 companies to receive the coveted Benny (a bronze statuette of Benjamin Franklin), the competition's highest honor for graphic arts achievement.

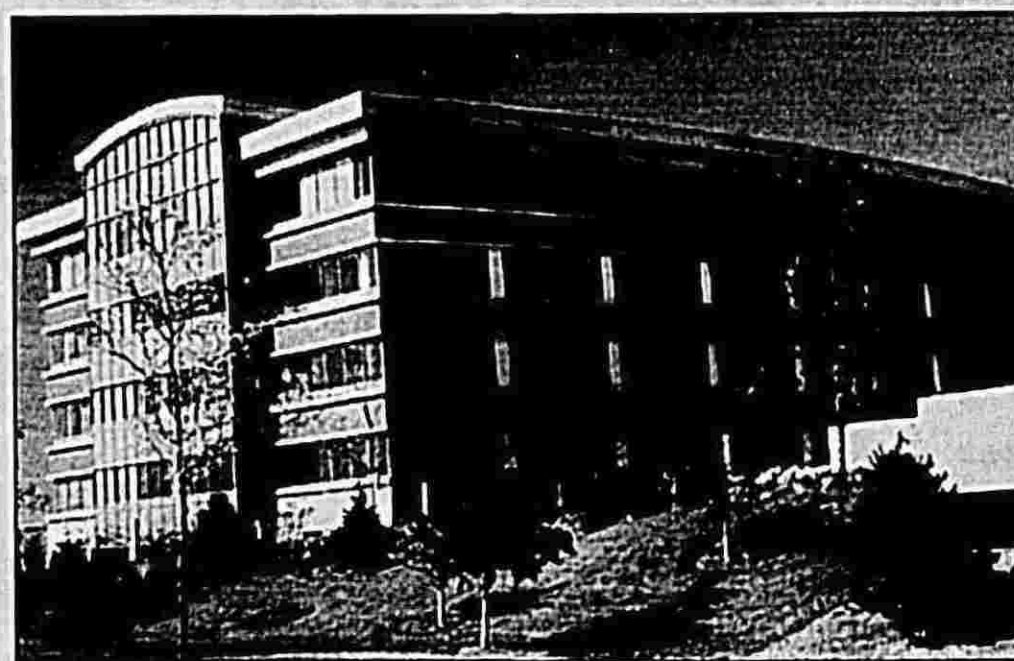

"Less than 2 percent of the nearly 5,700 entries we received were awarded the Benny. The field of entries this year was very impressive. The hard work and commitment to qualify of RPP Printing enabled them to produce an award-winning piece in the face of some very stiff competition," remarked Ray Roper, president and CEO of PIA.

RPP Printing received the Benny in the category of Print/Graphic Arts Self Promotion: 51-250 employee for their entry RPP Promotional Kit. RPP Printing Enterprises Inc said Design and Compton Presentation Systems were critical to the production of the Entry.

RPP Printing along with the other 61 Benny winning companies were recognized at the 1999 Premier Print Awards banquet held in October at the Fairmont Hotel in Chicago.

Sixteen judges representing printers, graphic designers and graphic arts corporations had the daunting task of evaluating nearly 5,700 entries this past June in Dallas, TX. Judges scrutinized the quality of the printing and assessed the attributes that led to excellence in printing such as evenness of color, clarity of separations and the degree of difficulty.

In its 49th year, the Premier Print Awards recognizes individuals, companies and organizations responsible for the creation or production of print communications. PIA, the host of the competition, is the world's largest graphic arts trade association representing an industry with more than $149 billion in sales. The graphic arts industry is, in fact, America's largest manufacturing industry in terms of establishments (51,305) and 4th largest in terms of employment (1,0075,000).

This new office building, located on Half Day Road in Lincolnshire is 100 percent leased. Situated on 8.9 acres, the 141,110 square-foot, $18 million multi-tenant office building was financed completely by Baird & Warner Estate Capital.

Baird & Warner completes financing for office building

Baird & Warner Estate Capital LLC announced that Jeffrey S. Cherner and Michael L. Miller, Principals of the firm recently completed $18 million in financing for a 141,110 sq.-ft., multi-tenant office building located at 475 Half Day Road in Lincolnshire for Millbrook II LLC. The long-term mortgage was placed with State Farm Insurance Company, a correspondent of Baird & Warner.

Situated on approximately 8.9 acres within the highly desirable Millbrook Business Center, the five story Class A office building is 100 percent leased by major tenants such as Takeda Pharmaceuticals America Inc., Case Capital Corporation and GE Reinsurance. Completed within the second quarter of 1999, features include a two-story parking deck, attractive campus environment and excellent accessibility to major thoroughfares as well as the Tri-state Tollway. The facility is managed by Millbrook Properties.

John R. Grier of Winston & Strawn represented the lender, State Farm Life Insurance Company. Mark Horne of Holleb & Coff represented Millbrook Properties. Kiferbaum Construction was the general contractor for the facility and Loeb Schlossman & Hackl provided architectural services.

Baird & Warner Real Estate Capital LLC specializes in investment sales of commercial income property and acts as a mortgage loan correspondent for a number of life insurance companies. Services provided include income property finance, loan administration (servicing) and investment sales.

Success Bancshares announces 3rd quarter, 9-month earnings

Success Bancshares Inc., the holding company for Success National Bank, has reported diluted earnings per share of $0.20 and $0.45 for the current quarter and nine-month period ended Sept. 30, respectively, as compared to $0.08 and $0.31 per diluted share for the same periods in 1998.

For the current quarter, net income was $566,000, an increase of $322 thousand, or 132.0 percent from the $244 thousand recorded for the same period in 1998. For the first nine months of 1999, net income increased $352,000, or 37.2 percent, to $1.3 million over the same period in 1998.

Total assets of the Company were $468 million at Sept. 30, compared with $470 million at Dec. 31, 1998, a decrease of $1.8 million. Loans increased $16.1 million to $391.3 million at Sept. 30, as compared to $375.2 million at Dec. 31, 1998. Deposits were $396.2 million at Sept. 30 as compared to $398.7 million at the end of 1998, a decrease of $2.5 million or 0.6 percent.

Net interest income for the quarter ended Sept. 30, was $4.4 million, an increase of $604,000, or 15.7 percent, over the $3.8 million recorded for the comparable period in 1998. For the nine month period ended September 30, net interest income was $122 million, an increase of $1.2 million, or 11.2 percent, over the $11.1 million recorded for the same period in 1998. The company's net interest margin for the current quarter and first nine months of 1999 was 4.14 percent and 3.96 percent, respectively, as compared to 3.92 percent and 3.97 percent, respectively, for the comparable periods in 1998.

Wilbur G. Meinen, Jr., President and CEO, noted that "the Company has continued to convert non-interest earnings assets into interest earning assets as evidence by an increase in the ratio of interest earning assets into interest earnings assets as evidence by an increase in the ratio of interest earnings assets to total assets from 91.4 percent at Dec. 31, 1998 to 93.5 percent at Sept. 30."

"In addition, we have continued our efforts to improve the yield on interest earnings assets and to decrease the cost of interest bearing liabilities by continually monitoring market rates and utilizing alternative funding sources, whenever beneficial. These actions have resulted in a net interest margin for the quarter which has increased significantly over levels experienced during the past four quarters," Meinen said.

Since the Company opened two new branches in 1998 and one in 1999, the expenses associated with these branches were not fully reflected in 1998.

According to Meinen: "management is keenly aware of the costs associated with branch expansion and has initiated an internal profitability analysis of all existing and potential locations." Other non-interest expense was $931,000 and $2.7 million for the quarter and year ended Sept. 20, respectively, as compared to $1.3 million and $3 million for the comparable periods in 1998.

Success Bancshares Inc. provides community-banking services through twelve locations to individuals and small-to-medium sized businesses in the northern Chicagoland area.

CPA group seeks nominations for 2000 Public Service Award

The Illinois CPA Society is accepting nominations for its 2000 Public Service Award. ## RE/MAX reports record sales

The RE/MAX of Northern Illinois network reports its home sales for the first three quarters of 1999 exceeded $8 billion, a 13.56 percent increase over the same period last year.

The number of transactions closed by the 119 offices in the RE/MAX network across Northern Illinois totaled 45,745, up 9.06 percent from the comparable period in 1998. The average price of a home sold by the network in the first nine months of this year was $175,656, an increase of 4.1 percent from the same period last year.

"Our 1999 sales activity through September was truly exceptional. The network's closed sale volume is almost $1 billion ahead of last year, and we have broken the $8 billion barrier," said Betty Hegner, president and co-founder of RE/MAX of Northern Illinois, Inc. "We are still on track to achieve an all time record of $10 billion in closed sales this year. However, any significant increases in interest rates could slow the housing market in the fourth quarter."

Hegner noted that September closed sales volume of $863,573,825 was 2.09 percent higher than September 1998, a modest increase when compared to sales trends earlier in the year. The average price of a home sold by RE/MAX in September was $173,932, up 3 percent from the same period last year.

TAYLOR: Quality employees make good business possible

questions and let the applicant do most of the talking. Fourth, use multiple interviews for the finalists. Schedule these for different times during the day. Fifth, check references diligently. Do your own digging; don't just rely on those listed in the resume. Sixth, take good notes and use an evaluation form to help your memory.

Step Seven: Never stop training. Most small business owners devote very little effort to training their employees. Fewer than 10 percent of U.S. employers provide any formal training.

Focus your training on teaching basic job functions, product knowledge, customer care, communications, etc., and then move on to more detailed or technical areas.

Like recruiting, training is an ongoing process. Learning never stops and training never ends.

HOW TO PLAY

Select a winner from each of the week's games, listed below. Select in descending order of your CONFIDENCE in your choices. Win points at left for each correct selection toward possible total of 136 points. See complete rules below. You must be at least 8 (eight) years old to enter. To enter, clip along dotted line, then place game entry in POWER POINTS container at co-sponsor's retail outlet(s). Entrants must list name, address and phone number below.

LIMIT: You may enter only once weekly.

DEADLINE: NOON FRIDAY

TIEBREAKER 1 ☐ Total points scored (both teams) in BEARS game.

THIS WEEK'S GAMES

POWER POINTS OFFICIAL RULES

- Object of the game is to amass as many of the 136 points as you can. Simply review the week's schedule of games, listed on entry form, and decide which game you are SUREST of picking a winner in. Write the name of your projected winner on the 16-point line. If that team wins its game that week, you win 16 points. Write the name of your second-surest winner on the 15-point line, and so on down to the 1-point line, which game you figure to be a toss-up. Next, fill in Tiebreaker 1, the total points scored by both teams in the week's designated game. If this step fails to produce a winner, the judges will apply Tiebreaker 2, total offensive yardage from scrimmage in this game. If a winner still doesn't emerge, a drawing will be held among those contestants still tied. Decisions of the judges are final. The weekly statewide winner of the contest will receive $1,000.
- Any entry form that does not contain a legible name, address, etc., will be disqualified.
- Entries that fail to forecast a winner from each and every game will be disqualified, as will entries that fail to distinguish between the Jets and Giants of New York and other similar teams.
- No points are awarded on tie games or in case any game is not played for any reason during its scheduled week.
- Entering POWER POINTS constitutes permission by contestant for his or her name and photograph to be used for news and reasonable promotional purposes at no charge.
- Employees of this newspaper and their immediate families are ineligible to participate.
- Any inquiry about or protest of weekly results must be made by noon on the Friday following the announcement of winners.
- No purchase necessary. Facsimile game entry forms will be accepted. Enter contest by dropping entry form into POWER POINTS container at participating co-sponsors.
- Weekly deadline for entry will be noon, Fridays except when noted otherwise on weekly entry form.
- Neither this newspaper nor any co-sponsor will be responsible for illegible entry forms or those lost, stolen or damaged in any way.
- Limit one entry per person per week. Each entry must represent the original work of one entrant; "group" entries, "systems" or other attempts to enter multiple entries will be disqualified. Filling out extra forms and putting your friends' and relatives' names on them violates this rule. Any such entries are destroyed prior to grading.
- Contestants must have reached the age of eight (8) years by the Sunday of any week's play.

THANK YOU

Or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a funeral spray.
If so we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words.
As any friend could say;
Perhaps you were not there at all,
Just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much whatever the part.

The Family of Brian Kennebeck

Pets can tame high blood pressure says American Heart Association

Do you feel like you are living or working in a concrete jungle? Canine or feline companionship may have a role in taming your "stress response," according to a study reported today at the American Heart Association Scientific Sessions.

Researchers looked at 48 male and female stockbrokers who were using medication to control high blood pressure. They found that those with a pet nearby experienced half the increase in blood pressure under stress as those who did not own a pet, says the study's lead author Karen M. Allen, Ph.D., a research scientist in medicine at the State University of New York at Buffalo.

"These results are dramatic and significant," says Allen. "For over a decade I've been studying the effects of pets on people's reactivity to stress — measured by heart rate and blood pressure responses to mental and physical stress. We've shown over and over that it's beneficial to be with a pet when you're under stress," says Allen.

Her earlier work focused on healthy people. The current study is the first to look at people with a medical condition, in this case high blood pressure, and how a pet can help reduce stress reactivity, Allen says.

The stockbrokers made more than $200,000 per year and lived alone.

"Their jobs are incredibly stressful. They are on the stock exchange floor, shouting, always on the phone. They're dealing with other people's money," she says.

A blood pressure reading of less than 140/90 millimeters of mercury (mm Hg) is considered normal. Without medication, the stockbrokers had an average blood pressure of 165/110 mm Hg, at rest.

The researchers then tried to cause stress for the subjects. First, they asked the subjects to count backwards by 17 as rapidly as possible, a common psychological test that probably carried more stress than usual because the math-savvy stockbrokers felt extra pressure to excel, says Allen. They also told the subjects to give a 5-minute speech talking their way out of a shoplifting charge.

In response to the stress, their average blood pressure shot up to 182/126 mm Hg after the math test and 184/129 mm Hg after the speech.

Next, all the subjects were given an ACE inhibitor, a common drug known to reduce high blood pressure. The drug, however, does not have any effect on an individual's reaction to stress, says Allen. The medication helped to lower the stockbrokers' blood pressure to normal levels averaging 122/76 mm Hg.

At the beginning of the experiment, prior to the stress tests, the researchers randomly selected half of the subjects to get a dog or a cat.

Six months later, the researchers again performed math and verbal stress reactivity tests. This time, the speech test involved trying to calm a furious brokerage client who had just lost $86,000 because of the stockbroker's bad advice. In those who took the medication but did not have a pet, blood pressure rose to 140/89 mm

Hg for math stress and 141/94 mm Hg, in response to the speech.

"That doesn't really sound bad, but the increase was the same number of points as before taking medication and it was still high enough to be diagnosed as high blood pressure if sustained over a period of time," Allen says.

The medication-only group had double the stress response as those who had a pet in the room during the test, she says. Systolic blood pressure, the pressure when the heart beats, rose just 8 mm Hg in response to the math problem or the speech, remaining in the normal range at 130 mm Hg. Diastolic blood pressure, the pressure in between beats, rose 9 mm Hg.

It came as no surprise, Allen says, that over six months these people had developed a strong bond with their animals. She adds that many of the stockbrokers in the medication-only group acquired pets of their own after they heard about the study results.

Dr. Allen's co-authors are Joseph L. Izzo, Jr., M.D. and Barbara E. Shykoff, Ph.D.

Fluid in a child's ears can have lasting effects

Hi Dr. Singer,

Our son has reading problems right now. He is 12. When he was little, he was diagnosed with having fluid in his ears and we had to have several sets of tubes put in. He had chronic allergies and sinus problems which we understand had something to do with the fluid in the ears. The fluid lasted for quite some time before we realized anything was going on. He was a late talker because of this. He also has problems with saying certain sounds to this day! My question for you is this: can fluid in the ears cause a problem later with reading? Does this have anything to do with the processing program you have talked about in the past? We would like to get help for our son, but have tried the tutors and other large learning groups and it doesn't seem to be helping. He doesn't have fluid in his ears now. Is it too late at 12? Any thoughts? N.N.

Dear N.N.,

Fluid in the ears as a small child most certainly can and does affect a child's ability to blend sounds and ultimately read. Yes, this is the crux of where auditory processing problems come from. If you can imagine trying to learn your sounds under water, you will begin to get a picture of how these kids are functioning.

PARENT'S PLACE

The problem is that if this is happening repeatedly in the formative years, these kids naturally stop trying to absorb the world through their ears and begin to use their visual skills more because it is the only sensory skill open to them at the time. Through sheer quantity of usage and practice with the good sensory skill, the weak sensory skill becomes weaker and weaker. It would be like not using a particular set of muscles for a long time. Eventually, they would atrophy and become unusable.

What happens with reading is that, due to the fluid block, the parts of reading or the sounds, never become solid or fast and therefore the whole of comprehension cannot happen. This can be true even after the block is cleared, since it occurred for a period of time and the child got used to doing it that way. Since the parts are slow, the lack of speed when reading affects the comprehension. In other words, if the parts come slowly, by the time the child reaches the end of a sentence or the end of a paragraph, it doesn't make sense to him or her anymore because it took him or her such a long time to get there.

The bigger problem is that if it goes on long enough, eventually many children with these kinds of problems will turn away from school and reading altogether. They begin to avoid the whole process because it is so painful. Additionally, if the actual process of processing and understanding what was heard isn't trained and practiced thoroughly, reading tutoring will not help completely.

His problems with sounds also do not surprise me. To understand this better, I'd like you to think about what a deaf person sounds like when he or she speaks. Deaf people learn and understand what someone says primarily by reading their lips or using their eyes to pick up what was said. Usually, any sound spoken by a deaf person does not sound as clear as if said by a hearing person. I believe that this is because when lip reading, one cannot see the actual enunciation of a sound and therefore, the sound is not translated clearly to the deaf person.

I believe that kids with fluid in the ears function very much the same way. They read lips when they cannot use their ears well. If this happens a lot, they become used to it and do it often. Particularly suspect to me, is the sound of "R." If you look at the way that sound looks when someone says it, it looks like it should sound muted, which is exactly how many of my client's kids sound. Not surprisingly, most of these kids had problems with fluid in the ears when they were young. They learned to say what the sound of "R" looked like rather than what it actually sounded like.

The semi-good news in all of this is that I would bet that your child has excellent visual processing abilities. Throughout the time that your child was not absorbing things through his ears, his eyes were probably working overtime to absorb things. This overuse creates incredible skills, however, it is better to have balanced good skills that some strong and some weak.

The even better news is that all of these kinds of skills can be improved significantly through targeted, specific practice. It's also important for you to know that it really isn't a hard process to bring these skills up to par. Without targeted practice, however, those skills will probably always be behind. It is definitely not too late now. In fact, it's the perfect age and the perfect time to get him caught up. Call me and I can tell you how! I look forward to hearing from you!

Dr. Nair was graduated from the University of London, England, where he received his Ph.D. in the Faculty of Medicine and subsequently his D.Sc. in the Faculty of Science, the highest degree awarded by the University. He is a member of 20 professional and scientific societies including the International Society for Biochemical Pharmacology, the International Brain Research Organization, the American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics, the Society of Toxicology, and the Radiation Research Society.

Keeping fit into the new year

We should exercise. Everyone seems to agree. Too many of us, however, find this a dreary chore, an unpleasant task or nearly impossible. Others find it invigorating, part of their identity. The word exercise has too many bad connotations, perhaps exercise can be rethought or restated to us. We could call it "invigoration training". Images of sweating or feeling like you may have to call 911 could give way to warmer visions of victory, of freedom from fat, thoughts of thinning, or just being busy in the backyard having decided to rake leaves.

The decision to embark on an exercise regimen or not will tip a gratifying balance in your life if not your scale. Say one's to get started as a result of his or her decision. Now what? Set a goal. Keep that goal in mind as you move forward. As you start, do so slowly. Start with 5-10 minutes if you've been inactive for some time. Then increase how long and how hard you exercise each time. Adding merely a minute a day if you are starting at 5 minutes and exercising 4 to 5 times per week will put you a full 20-minute or more exercise regimen by the beginning of Y2K. Since you've started early, you will more likely maintain this inclination have separated yourself from the crowd.

Now that you have got a goal, then what? What do you do? Most of us can walk. Keeping it simple requires only a good pair of shoes when it comes to special equipment. You may wish to "sneak" exercise into your day by parking a few blocks from where you work or taking the stairs instead of the elevator. If walking or running doesn't suit you, you may be right to suit up and splash into swimming which is easier on joints if you have a challenge with bad joints or arthritis. Now that you're having this much fun you may wish to share the fun with a club, team or class. So as not to get bored make sure that you are varying from your routine enough to keep you energized. Remember to stretch and warm up and cool down as part of your routine.

FOREST PRESERVE NOTES

Habitat restored for
plants

Natural habitats in three Lake County Forest Preserves will improve through projects approved by the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners at their Nov. 19 meeting.

Cuba Marsh Forest Preserve near Barrington and Lake Zurich, MacArthur Woods Forest Preserve near Mettawa, and Wadsworth Savanna Forest Preserve near Wadsworth will have 175 acres of habitat restored for native plants and animals. Project funding will come from the successful Forest Preserve referendum approved by 66 percent of Lake County voters in April 1999.

"Habitat restoration is an ongoing part of properly caring for and maintaining our Forest Preserves," said Carol Calabresa, Forest Preserve president. "These qualified contractors will supplement work by Forest Preserve professionals and trained volunteers to prevent weedy brush from crowding out our native plants."

At Cuba Marsh, Landscape Concepts Management, Inc. of Grayslake will begin work in December to complete a final phase of restoring 25 acres by June 2000. At MacArthur Woods, The Brickman Group, Inc., of Libertyville will restore 100 acres of high quality woodland from this December to next March. At Wadsworth Savanna, Landscape Concepts will complete restoring 50 acres by next June.

Forest Preserve Commissioners also approved applications for a Northeastern Illinois Wetlands Conservation Account, Chicago Wilderness, and Conservation 2000 Grants for the habitat restoration projects, as part of ongoing efforts to match local voter-approved referendum funds with regional, state and federal grants.

Information about habitat restoration efforts in Lake County Forest Preserves and about volunteering to help is available from the Forest Preserve General offices by calling 367-6640.

'Toys for Tots' collection

Brighten the holiday for local children by bringing toys to a Lake County Forest Preserve Toys for Tots drop-off site until Dec. 20.

Sponsored by the United States Marine Corps Reserve, Toys for Tots collects and distributes new toys to needy children in Lake and McHenry counties. Toys should be new and not wrapped. Drop off your donation at one of three Lake County Forest Preserve locations:

- General offices, 2000 N. Milwaukee Ave., just north of Route 137 in Libertyville.

- Lake County Museum, Lakewood Forest Preserve, Route 176 west of Fairfield Rd. near Wauconda.

- Ryerson Woods visitors center, Ryerson Conservation area, Riverwoods Rd. south of Route 22 near Deerfield.

Toys for Tots is nationwide Marine Corps Reserve program started in 1947. Last year, the Marines collected and distributed over 11.2 million toys to almost 5 million needy children nationwide. In Lake County, the Toys for Tots campaign is coordinated by the Marines of Weapons Company, 2nd Battalion, 24th Marines, headquartered in Waukegan. More information about the Toys for Tots Foundation, including a Tax Deduction Donation form, is available on their website at www.ToysForTots.org.

For more information about the Lake County Forest Preserve drop-off sites, call 367-6640.

How to choose fresh-cut Christmas trees

The best way to assure freshness when buying this year's Christmas tree is to buy it directly from a fresh-cut or cut-your-own farm. Some people also like to buy living trees for use during the holidays and then plant them outside afterwards. There are many farms and nurseries in northern Illinois with both kinds of trees available.

"It is a good idea to call ahead to check on tree availability, since some farms may sell out of stock quickly. Also, check with area tree farms for the variety and size of tree which is needed," says John Church, University of Illinois Natural Resources Extension Educator, Rockford. Some specialize in large trees, unique varieties, or other characteristics. Farms also vary as to the availability of other holiday decorations, such as boughs, wreaths, pinecones and other items. They also vary as to the services they offer customers in preparing the tree for transporting and some possibly even offer delivery.

"If cutting your own tree, remember to do some measuring at home before making the trip. Trees in the field look smaller than they are in reality and will appear to be in the house. Don't forget to measure for width as well as height," Church adds. Take a tape measure with you.

When buying a live balled and burlapped tree, plan ahead. Be sure to have the hole for planting dug before the ground is frozen solid. It helps to keep the hole covered with straw and burlap to keep the soil thawed around it until planting. Be sure the tree is kept well watered inside the house, since it can quickly dehydrate indoors. Using an anti-desiccant at planting will help reduce moisture loss outdoors. Live trees can be used successfully, but it does require some work and care.

"Regardless how fresh the tree is when purchased, care needs to be taken on the trip home and once the tree is in the house to maintain that freshness," Church says. The tree should be wrapped or covered on the way home. Wind can rapidly desiccate the needles. Be sure to take along a tarp, old blankets or other material to cover the tree and plenty of rope. Once in the house, maintain water levels in the stand above the bottom of the trunk to avoid it sealing over and restricting water uptake. Also, keeping the house cool and using a humidifier will help keep the tree fresher longer.

For further information, contact the Lake County Extension Office at 223-8627.

Choosing a Christmas tree variety

Each year there seem to be more varieties to choose from for that perfect Christmas tree, including the popular, traditional scotch pine. There are also others that can be used that may add some variety, such as fraser fir, Douglas fir, Norway spruce, white pine, blue spruce, and balsam fir.

"Some of these may be difficult to find since they are not as easily grown in northern Illinois and the lower public awareness tends to limit their presence on sales lots," says John Church, University of Illinois Extension Educator, Natural Resources, Rockford. "Also, several can be more expensive," he adds.

Fraser firs have been referred to as the "Cadillac of Christmas trees." The needles are flat, 1/2 to 1 inches, and have a rich, dark green color with a silvery underside. It has excellent color and needle retention characteristics. They tend to be "naturally-shaped" Christmas trees. Due to their limited production in this area and their high quality, they may be higher priced than other varieties. However, there does appear to be an increasing demand.

For a "full" appearing tree, white pines are often good. They are widely available in the Midwest. It has longer needles at 3 to 6 inches. It has generally good needle color and retention.

The spruces are gaining in popularity, too. The needles tend to have good retention, and are shorter and stiffer than some of the other varieties. The spruce varieties are popular when buying a live Christmas tree for planting in the yard after the holiday. Live trees do need some special care for successful planting.

The traditional favorite Scotch pine has 1 1/2 to 3 inch blue-green needles, which have a somewhat twisted appearance. The branches tend to be more open and stiffer than the white pine. Many people prefer it since it often is easier to hang ornaments on its branches. It is also often one of the most reasonably priced varieties.

Regardless of the variety of the tree, proper watering and keeping the home as moist and cool as possible will help lengthen the tree's enjoyment and safety.

With all these choices, everyone should be able to find that "perfect tree." "Buyers may want to take a holiday outing to discover the different types of trees available and to do some consumer comparisons," concludes Church.

ROUTE 21: Citizen's group pushes for complete overhaul

improvements done in the 2002 construction season, rather than a portion of the project over a period of years. "We'd like to get whole construction done at one time," said Friedlander.

At present, an estimated 23,000 cars travel the route on weekdays. Based on future traffic projections, the number of cars is expected to increase to 38,000 by 2020.

During peak rush hour periods, Friedlander said the drive on Route 21 from Gurnee to Route 137 can take upwards of an hour.

"We're looking at what the future traffic is. Unless they do this, they are going to have a real big mess. The road can't handle it now," he added.

Not only will the improvements to Route 21 relieve traffic on that road but on other nearby traffic arteries as well. "It is badly needed and will relieve some of the pressure on O'Plaine Road," Friedlander said.

As part of the bidding process, the group has also asked that there be a squad car stationed at the construction site to ensure safe driving on the accident-prone roadway.

"We think wherever there's a construction project there should be a squad car for safety reasons," he said. "There's a lot of accidents around construction areas and we just think it's safer for everyone concerned."

Citizens to Protect Quality of Life Through Transportation is a new organization comprised of Lake County residents who want to see the entire transportation system improved to better the quality of life for residents of the county. The organization has a mailing address of P.O. Box 7529, Libertyville, Ill., 60048, and a phone number of 855-6460.

Friedlander said this is the first road project the organization has taken a position on, but in the future it will be taking stands on other Lake County road projects such as Routes 45 and 22 and Route 53.

"We're a new group but we're working quickly. We're talking and focusing on many things," he said.

CENTER: Feds allocate $3 million for project

"Regardless of where the University Center is located, the money Congressman Porter helped secure will be part of matching funds needed to help build the University Center," Kohn said.

After the Illinois General Assembly and Gov. George Ryan approved the $11 million appropriation for the Illinois Department of Higher Education to proceed with the project, Lake County was required to come up with matching funds. The federal funds will provide a portion of the match.

"Congressman Porter felt the Lake County University Center is a project that has great merit and is going to provide wonderful educational opportunities for people throughout Lake County," Kohn added.

In September, county officials including LaBelle and board members Judy Martini and Angela Kyle visited Washington to promote the county's legislative agenda. Martini said one of the issues they discussed with congressional representatives at the time was the need for University Center funding.

'Regardless of where the University Center is located, the money Congressman Porter helped secure will be part of matching funds needed to help build the University Center'

Dave Kohn, spokesman for Porter's office

Martini said she is glad those efforts "paid off" and federal money has been secured for the University Center. "Our representatives did a very good job of bringing tax dollars back to our constituents," she said.

CLC and Lakehurst are the two top sites being considered for the University Center, although a downtown Mundelein site has not been ruled out.

In addition to state and federal funds, Lake County has earmarked $3 million in its fiscal 2000 budget for the project. An additional $3 million will come from either the city of Waukegan if the Lakehurst Mall site is selected; or a $3 million land donation from the College of Lake County if the Grayslake site is chosen.

Additional funds will be solicited from the corporate sector once a site is selected by the Illinois Board of Higher Education. The state board is expected to make a decision in February.

DROUGHT: County plants threatened

like conditions. If the weather patterns don't change soon, he said "we may be in the same position next spring."

Sharon Viesla, horticulturist for the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension service, advises people to continue to watering plants until the ground is frozen. She said "the dry period now could certainly affect plants next year."

"I would encourage people to water their gardens regularly until we get colder weather and the soil starts to freeze," she said.

Denny also advises people to water along the base and roots of larger trees such as pines and oaks using a sprinkler. This will help prevent the roots from weakening and trees dying if dry conditions continue in the spring, he said.

Overall, average precipitation levels for the year are actually about normal, but the summer and fall months have been dry.

During the month of November, less than an inch of rain was reported for the month in Lake County, according to Dick Raftis, manager of the Lake County Farm Bureau. Normal precipitation levels are about 3.5 inches, he said. The summer months of July and August were also hot and dry.

Farm yields in many central and downstate counties were dismally low due to lack of rain and low commodity prices, according to Raftis. In Lake County, yields this year were down about 20 percent for beans and 30 percent for corn, he said.

The only positive for the agricultural community is the dry conditions did make it easier for farmers to get into the field to harvest their crops, Raftis said.

Raftis said it's "too early to get alarmed" about next year, but there is a shortage of moisture and those problems could get worse if there is no rain by spring.

"If we don't replenish the groundwater we have now, it would definitely have an impact on the growing season next year," Raftis said.

MONEY MARKET
 ACCOUNT

It's true, life is full of surprises. Some are planned. Some are not. But, you need to be prepared. And that's where we can help. For instance, our GrandPlan T-Bill Money Market Account lets you earn a lot more interest than a regular money market or savings account. And it still gives you access to your money. We also have other products and services to help you achieve your goals. From high-yield CDs to 100% home equity lines of credit. Talk with one of our relationship managers to determine which financial solution best meets your needs.

So, whether you're saving for a surprise anniversary trip to the tropics or a rainy day, we have a GrandPlan to help you achieve your goals. For more information, call 1-800-23GRAND or visit one of our 23 Grand National Bank locations.

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I was terminated a week ago from (name withheld). I had only been with them for 3 weeks. I quit a position I had for almost 4 years to take this position, which was paying more than I was making before, closer to home, and a benefit package that was well worth the move. They came to me at the end of the day on a Thursday and told me my services were no longer needed. They gave me no reason. I know in the past that you have stepped in and have helped other people find out what the reasons were that they were dismissed from their positions. So I am asking if you will help me. I am upset that I left a very stable position for this and now I am without a job before the holidays. I have even called my former employer to tell him what had happened and asked for my job back. He told me that I had already been replaced. I know that your help will not get me my job back, but I feel that they at least owe me an explanation of why I was let go.

Thank you, F. V., Round Lake Beach

A: Thank you for writing. I was sorry to hear of your situation as you stated, right before the holidays. The truth is that there is no good time to be terminated from a job. Please keep in mind that the State of Illinois is a "hire at will" state. It is unfortunate that you did not take the opportunity upon your dismissal to ask what the reasons were. I am more surprised that the company did not offer that to you, or did they? I contacted this company on your behalf and at first, they were reluctant to divulge any of the reasons as to why you were dismissed. Once they realized how surprised you were to have been terminated, they were all too quick to generalize the reasons that they felt were as they called it, "academic". Were you NOT aware that polishing your nails on company time was considered wrong? Were you also NOT aware that finishing your work (or projects) was not an open invitation to play Solitaire on the computer. The company representative stated that upon termination, you did not request the reason as to why you were abruptly dismissed at the end of that day. They felt that being caught in the act of polishing your nails 25 minutes before quitting time that day should have been understandable enough. I don't know who your previous employer was for almost 4 years, but if these were the sort of things that you were used to doing on company time, know that they are grossly frowned upon in the real corporate world. It is not acceptable to be doing anything on company time other than company authorized work. This also includes doing your nails... for which unfortunately you can now do on your time. Don't dwell on this situation, learn from it and move on.

'98.6 Fahrenheit' Dance Company

98.6

Fahrenheit Dance Company" will conclude 1999 with a spectacular New Year's Eve performance at The Dance Building located at 1330 Webford in Des Plaines, Friday, Dec. 31st at noon. The performance is part of the Chicago Department of Cultural Affairs 'Dance to the Dawn of the New Millennium 2000 Minute Dance Party.'

Artistic director Donna Jagielski founded the company in 1998 and since its inception has filled houses at The Dance Building in Des Plaines and at the Prairie Center for the Arts in Schaumburg. The company recently concluded a four-month community based performance series which allowed it to bring exciting dance performances to area retirement communities and libraries.

Aside from her impressive talents as a performer, Ms. Jagielski is the all around professional in the field of jazz and modern dance. Along with her full-time role as dance specialist for the Andrew Cooke Magnet School in Waukegan, Ms. Jagielski has provided artistic residencies with the Illinois Arts Council, and has lectured on the subject of arts in education at numerous professional conferences around the world.

To add to the festive mood, The Dance Building will be decorated for the event and sweet treats will be waiting for audience members after the show. In this performance titled "Turning Up the Heat" the company will be performing several pieces from the previous season as well as offering a sneak preview of works from this upcoming season. The company will conclude the performance by taking audiences on an active tour through the many party dances which have filled our decades such as Y.M.C.A., Macarena, Achey Breaky Heart among others. Since this

For further information regarding the New Year's Eve Dance Performance Party 'Turning Up the Heat' at the Dance Building and /or general information about the company, please contact '98.6 Fahrenheit Dance Company' and Donna Jagielski at 398-6377 or by mail at P.O. Box 466 Palatine, IL 60078 or by E-mail at dancer986@ameritech.net.

Goodman Theater welcomes the season with Charles Dickens' 'A Christmas Carol'

The Goodman Theater will welcome the holiday season with its 22nd annual production of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," now through January 2. Staged by Goodman Artistic Associate Henry Godinez in an adaptation by Tom Creamer, "A Christmas Carol" features a multicultural cast of actors, singers and dancers led by Rick Snyder, returning for his second season in the roll of the hard-hearted miser, Ebenezer Scrooge. Andersen Consulting is the exclusive sponsor for the Goodman's 1999 production of "A Christmas Carol."

The Goodman Theatre's production of "A Christmas Carol" has become a golden thread in the fabric of Chicago's holiday season, as much anticipated as the lights on Michigan Avenue, the city's giant Christmas tree in the Daley Plaza, and the mechanical windows in the great State Street stores. Each year, thousands of Chicago families are caught in the spell of Dickens' heartwarming tale, following Ebenezer Scrooge on his magical journey through a Christmas Eve night. From the opening montage of traditional Victorian carols, given full voice by the talented cast, to Tiny Tim's famous finale, "God bless us, everyone," it's a marvelous trip for the entire family.

Tickets for "A Christmas Carol" are priced from $16 to $38. Children under 12 receive a $6 discount off single ticket prices for specified performances. Tickets may be purchased at the Goodman Theater box office, located at 200 S. Columbus Drive or charged by phoning (312) 443-3800.

Homemade ornaments for the tree

The Christmas tree is the focal point of holiday spirit in the home. This year, more than 30 million American families will celebrate the holidays with the beauty of either a real tree or an artificial one. No matter which tree people choose to decorate their homes, they want it to look "special."

What makes a tree "special," is the time spent with family deciding on and finally decorating it. Cranberry or popcorn garland?

Steady or blinking lights? Store-bought or homemade ornaments?

Handcrafted ornaments give the tree a personal touch. But don't worry—you need not have an artist's touch to make beautiful ornaments. The following ornaments, courtesy of "Good Housekeeping: Christmas Joys" (Hearst Books), by the editors of Good Housekeeping, are simple forms and natural objects that easily are dressed up with gold string, ribbon and paint.

Gilded Acorns

Materials

Acorns or purchased wooden acorns
Glue gun
Plaid Mod Podge
Paintbrush
Imitation gold leaf (Dutch Metal)
Gold string

1. If using natural acorns, secure caps to nut with hot glue.
2. Apply thin coat of Mod Podge to acorn with paintbrush.
3. Apply small squares of imitation gold leaf to acorn, gently pressing edges down.
4. When dry, wind gold string around acorn stem and secure with drop of hot glue.

Homemade Christmas ornaments made out of everyday objects, like acorns, give the tree a personal touch.

Materials

Velvet and satin ribbons
Dried lemon
Glue gun
Upholstery tacks (decorative furniture nails)
Scissors

1. Make overhand knot in ribbon for hanging loop.
2. Secure loop to top of lemon with dot of hot glue; continue wrapping ribbon around lemon. Cut ribbon at loop and secure with glue.
3. Cut second strip of ribbon and glue around circumference of lemon.
4. Anchor ribbon at intersections with upholstery tacks.

Holiday trips for the entire family

The Belvidere Recreation Center invites adults to experience an enchanting shopping adventure this Holiday season on Wednesday, Dec. 7 from 8:30 a.m.-4:00 p.m. Participants will spend a day seeing and shopping on State Street or Michigan Avenue in Chicago. Fee includes van transportation provided by the Waukegan Park District. The fee for residents is $10 and $11 for non-residents.

Let the Waukegan Park District take your family to a winter wonderland at Brookfield Zoo on Saturday, Dec. 11 from 3:00-10:00 p.m. The cost for residents is $16 and $20 for non-residents. Non-resident children and seniors pay $14 and $10 for residents.

'Tis the season to decorate the house

Home decor experts at Enesco Home Gallery talk holiday trends

Enesco Corporation knows that for many consumers, one of the biggest challenges during the holidays is home decorating. That's why the home decor experts at Enesco Home Gallery, a leader in the home accents industry, are offering a preview on the trends that will be popular this holiday season.

"The holidays are a time when people should slow down from busy, everyday life to enjoy family, friends and simple pleasures," says Kathy Cook, home decor expert for Enesco Home Gallery. "This should be remembered when decorating your home for the holidays. Your goal should be to create a special atmosphere that is both welcoming and festive."

Cook has identified some trends to use in your own decorating this holiday season:

Resurgence of Ornaments

"By the end of the '80s, interest in Christmas ornaments was waning, but in the last part of this decade we've seen a renewed attraction in them," says Cook.

Ornaments are available in countless styles, from artist Anthony Costanza's woodcut Santa Claus to the whimsical tin snowmen of Daniel Dela Cruz.

Cook suggests hanging ornaments in unique locations, such as a chandelier, a door wreath or a pine bough. Ornaments can also be hung in a window, welcoming your guest as they approach your house.

Thematic Christmas Trees

Today, more and more people are decorating more than one Christmas tree in their homes. Often, each tree features a special holiday collection or theme.

"Multiple Christmas trees have become very popular - it's not uncommon to see a house that has one tree decorated entirely with snowmen and another that's just ribbons and florals," says Cook. "Regardless of weather you choose to trim one or more trees, be sure to make it uniquely your own."

Let It Snow

Icy, snowy motifs are popular this year, so be on the lookout for snowflakes, snowmen and iced pine decorations. This look is versatile - it looks great in traditional and country-style homes and can easily be transformed from casual to elegant just by adding crisp white linens and fine crystal.

"People are attracted to the frosty look because of its longevity - it's not only a good style for the holidays, but it's also an ideal winter decorating theme," says Cook. "These decorations can stay out through February."

"Our Country Living collection offers snowflake candleholders, finials and napkin holders, as well as frosty pine garland and wreaths," she adds. "It's a beautiful and timeless collection if you're interested in bringing the winter look into your home."

Collecting

Whether it's a group of holiday-oriented tabletop and decorative accessories, such as the Holly Berry collection by artist Julie Ueland, or a series of figurines based on Mary Engelbreit's popular artwork, the holidays are an ideal time to display your favorite collections.

"Many people begin collecting when they receive a piece as a gift at the holidays," says Cook. "Santas, snowmen and nativity scenes are among the types of holiday collections that we're seeing this year."

Cook suggests integrating your collection into your home's holiday decor by decorating an entire room in these pieces or by grouping different items on the mantel. "Make your collection stand out, but be sure that its elements are carried throughout the room to unify the look," says Cook.

Everyday Items

Holiday decorating doesn't have to mean spending a fortune on new decorations and ornaments each year. Cook says that many people are turning everyday items into festive decorations by adding their own special touches.

"Our collection of holiday ribbon and candles are perfect for making ordinary items like candlesticks, picture frames and mirrors more festive," says Cook. "These small details will give your house a special flair during the holiday season."

Caring for Decorations

"The key to having a beautiful holiday home year after year is proper decoration care," Cook concludes. "Store your decorations as you would other precious items."

Cook advises storing decorations in a cool, dry place and never in an attic or basement. Wrap and pack fragile ornaments carefully to avoid damage. Today, special packing materials and archival paper are available to preserve decorations for years to come.

Home Gallery, a $35 million division of Enesco Corporation, makes affordable, high quality decorative accents and fine giftware. Home Gallery's product offering features exclusive merchandise by the country's leading brands and artists, such as Mary Engelbreit, Country Living, Julie Ueland, Isabelle de Borchgrave, along with detailed home accents products based on items featured in the Winterthur Museum.

Winter wonderland awaits guests at Brookfield Zoo's Holiday Magic

Make a little "magic" this holiday season while spending an unforgettable evening with family and friends at Brookfield Zoo's 18th annual Holiday Magic. A half million twinkling white lights will illuminate the zoo, turning it into a winter wonderland where guests can stroll the walkways and see their favorite animals. The festival, which is presented by the Chicago Zoological Society and Sears, takes place on 12 enchanted evenings—Fridays-Sundays, November 26-28 and December 3-5, 10-12, and 17-19, from 4:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

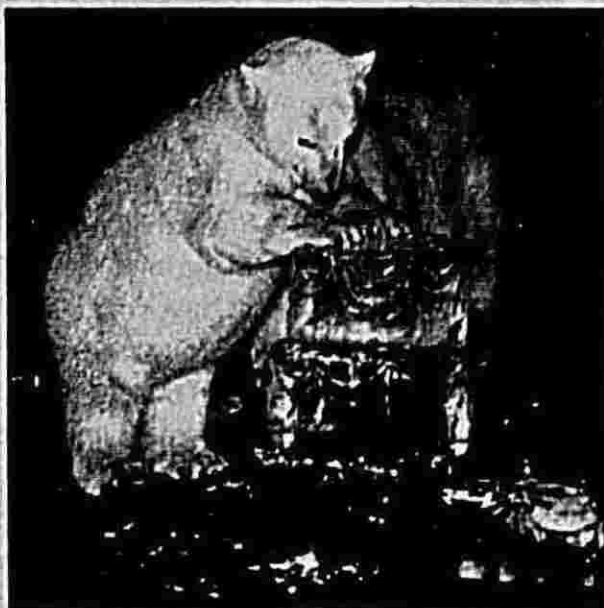

A special tree-lighting ceremony on the zoo's East Mall on November 26 at 6:00 p.m. will commence the Holiday Magic festivities. A visitor from the North Pole will make an appearance and John H. Stroger Jr., president of the Forest Preserve District of Cook County, will flip a switch that will light the 36 corporate-sponsored trees around Roosevelt Fountain. Afterwards, the world-renowned Glen Ellyn Children's Chorus will perform a festive concert. Over the years, the prestigious chorus has performed under conductors such as Sir Georg Solti, James Levine, and Daniel Barenboim at Chicago's Symphony Orchestra, Carnegie Hall, the Kennedy Center, and Ravinia Festival as well as around the world. The chorus is in its 34th year and currently consists of approximately 250 children from more than 30 Chicago suburban communities.

While strolling along the walkways, guests can enjoy watching many of the animals such as the brown and polar bears, snow leopards, and Amur tigers, that are used to Chicago's brisk winter nights. Or, they can go indoors and visit the warmer climate of The Swamp to see North American river otters, alligators, and a variety of bird species. Guests can also venture into Tropic World and hang out with the primates, including gorillas, orangutans, and red-capped mangabeys. And, at The Living Coast, they can visit the west coast of South America to see moon jellies, green sea turtles, and Humboldt penguins. Other animal exhibits open are The Fragile Kingdom, Reptile House, Pachyderm House, Children's Zoo, and Be A Bird House. During Holiday Magic, indoor animal buildings are open until 8:30 p.m. (Tropic World is open until 7:30 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays and closed on Fridays.)

Each night during the festival, families can shake off the chill in the heated Storybook Theater (located near Nyani Lodge restaurant) where Chicagoland celebrities will recount their favorite holiday tales.

On select evenings for the 5:00 p.m. story, children from Chicagoland schools will tell their own "homemade" winter-themed tales. Also entertaining in the Storybook Theater are the McNulty Irish Dancers, who will perform traditional dances on December 12 at 7:00 p.m. In the Be A Bird House, members of the Oak Park Recorder Society will entertain and instruct guests with holiday tunes and the varied histories of the wind instrument on December 18 from 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

Be sure to stop by the Special Events Arena (located just east of the Pachyderm House) to watch professional carvers from Lang Ice create beautiful frozen works of art. In addition, adding to the holiday decorations on Brookfield Zoo's north, south, and east malls are seven-foot balsam fir trees decorated with handmade ornaments by 339 Chicago-area community organizations.

During Holiday Magic, guests can learn about the zoo's big cats and bears and then extend some holiday cheer in Sing to the Animals. On Saturdays, keepers will be on hand beginning at 6:15 p.m. in front of the lion exhibit at The Fragile Kingdom and then lead guests in singing to the cats at 6:30 p.m. On Sundays, a keeper talk on polar bears begins at 6:15 p.m. and the singing strikes up at 6:30 p.m. Also, at the north and south gates and outside The Living Coast exhibit, guests can enjoy songs of the season sung by community choirs and school and scout groups.

Guests of all ages can have tons of fun learning about the animals with Brookfield Zoo's volunteer educators (docents) from 4:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. At Be A Bird House, docents will engage guests in "Nature Thought of It First," a lively interactive game about amazing animal "inventions." During the activity, docents will give clues and encourage teams of guests to match human inventions with the animals that inspired them. In The Swamp, docents present "Have I Got a Swamp for YOU!," a hilarious 10-minute infomercial on the benefits of swamps. The tension will mount at Reptile House as Brookfield Zoo animals (represented by plush animals) vie for the coveted "Animal Academy Awards." Docents will entertain and encourage zoo goers to listen to clues and guess the lucky winners during this glitzy awards show. Also, guests should be on the lookout for Roving Riddlers at their favorite animal exhibits. These docents will be carrying brightly colored holiday bags filled with puppets and animal artifacts, ready to play a fun guessing game

Whether you've been naughty or nice, be sure to visit Santa and Mrs. Claus in the zoo's Discovery Center, where they'll be on hand to hear everyone's wish list. Remember your holiday visit with Old St. Nick with a photo and have it mounted in a keepsake snowflake, stocking ornament, or exclusive Holiday Magic card. For something a little more "wild," have a photo taken with one of the animals in the Children's Zoo Photo Tent (opens at 5:00 p.m.) and have it mounted in a magnet, wreath ornament or keychain. Prices at both locations are $4.95 for one item, $8.95 for two, $12.95 for three, or $16.00 for four items.

During Holiday Magic, park in the northwest lot (near 31st Street). Holiday Magic activities are free with regular zoo admission and parking (fees apply for photo opportunities). Admission is $6.00 for adults and $3.00 for children ages 3-11 and seniors 65 and over. Children 2 and under are free. Car parking is $4.00; bus parking is $8.00.

For more information about Holiday Magic, call Brookfield Zoo at (708) 485-0263, ext. 879, or visit its Web site at www.brookfieldzoo.org.

Open every day of the year, Brookfield Zoo is located at First Avenue and 31st Street in Brookfield, just 14 miles west of downtown Chicago. The zoo is accessible via the Stevenson (I-55) and Eisenhower (I-290) expressways, Tri-State Tollway (I-294), Burlington Northern commuter line, and PACE bus service.

Wrap up holiday gifts in decorative style

Enjoy a gorgeous display of gifts throughout the holiday season by turning packages into works of art. For example, a festive mix of ribbons, twine and ornaments can bring character, whimsy and individuality to a gift. A toy attached to a gift, like a paper pinwheel, heightens the anticipation of the surprise that's inside. Keep in mind that a present does not need the crisp lines and sharp corners of a gift box to be appealing. A Victorian-style bundle wrapped in kraft paper and twine hints at the gift's shape, inviting the recipient to guess what's inside. A homemade gift tag, made from stationery-store supplies, ribbon pieces,

Kid stuff makes the Museum of Science & Industry fun for the whole family

Nowadays, you can't pass the holidays by without hearing about the latest trendy toy... But we all have fond recollections of our playthings from childhood. Remember your first crack at a wiffle ball? Or your first fruity taste of Pez that came with its own pocket-sized dispenser.

Now you can show your kids what you got for the holidays with Kid Stuff, a special exhibition of well-loved classic toys, part of the annual Christmas Around the World and Holidays of Light festivities at the Museum of Science and Industry.

Based on the book Kid Stuff: Great Toys

From Our Childhood by David Hoffman, the 4,500-square-foot Kid Stuff exhibition features toys that are truly classics in the literal sense—they have been on the market for at least 25 years and also are currently available today. Families will have a blast exploring "memory lane," discovering fun facts and reminiscing about a variety of toys and gizmos, from Mr. Potato Head to Raggedy Ann, from Mexican Jumping Beans to The Game of Life. Vintage print and television advertisements and retro illustrations add a nifty and nostalgic flair to the entire exhibit.

In conjunction with Kid Stuff, the Museum has several fun activities to make your experience a treasured one. Looking for a festive way to preserve your holiday memories? Have your family's picture taken with a life-sized cut-out GI Joe or Barbie in the Kid Stuff exhibit, or pose in front of the gigantic Radio Flyer wagon resting at the Museum's main entrance— it's 27-feet tall.

As a special treat, the Museum will hold Easy-Bake Oven decorating workshops at 1 p.m. on Dec. 20, 21, 22 and 23. As a tribute to the toy that inspired them as kids, well-known Chicago-area chefs will bake and decorate elaborate desserts using only an Easy-Bake oven and their own imaginations. Each day a different chef will create and display his or her masterpiece, while visitors watch and decorate their own pre-made Easy-Bake Oven cakes. Visitors can then enjoy their cakes while listening to holiday stories—milk will be provided! Presented by the Dairy Council of Wisconsin.

Fun Facts from our childhood about great toys

• What is Barbie's last name?
Roberts.

• The creator of Lincoln Logs was which famous architect's son?

Frank Lloyd Wright.

• What makes a Mexican Jumping Bean jump?

There's an actual quarter-inch caterpillar trapped inside.

• Why were Representatives Dan Mica and Olympia Snowe ordered by the State Department to bring along a dozen Magic Slates on their trip to the USSR in 1987?

Since there was a good chance that the facility they were inspecting was bugged, the U.S. Representatives could write messages on the Magic Slates to be passed back and forth, and then erased them with a quick flick of the wrist.

• Though the name Lego came from the Danish words leg godt, or "play well" what does Lego mean in Latin?

"I put together"

• The Slinky song ("It's a Slinky, it's a Slinky/ for fun it's a won-der-ful toy! It's Slinky! it's fun for a girl and a boy), hold what honor? It's the longest-running jingle in advertising history, used continuously in TV commercials since 1962.

• Why has Raggedy Ann been called "the doll

Supposedly the creators' first homemade Anns had a heart-shaped piece of candy sewn inside, and the first mass-produced Anns contained a die-cut cardboard heart. They couldn't be seen but could be felt if you ran your fingers across the doll's chest.

• What is the total amount of money in a standard of Monopoly game?

A holiday warm-up for the busy season

This holiday season, exhilarate your taste buds with Cajun-styled Spicy Chicken Salad with Buttermilk and Goat Cheese Dressing.

After a busy day of holiday shopping, you painstakingly gaze into the freezer as if peering into a crystal ball. With a blank stare, you scan past the turtle-fudge ice cream and several frozen bundles of who-knows-what. Then, in an ambivalent moment, you verbalize your thoughts: What did I make for dinner last night? Ahhh! Let's just have ice cream — it has been a hard day.

Thankfully your brain doesn't go on vacation every night, however, there is something to be learned here — menu planning. Granted, it sounds methodical, but the bottom line is simple. You are busy and overbooked, especially during this frenzied holiday season. A few moments of preplanning will spare you countless headaches in the long run.

Simply jot down your menu for the week and be sure you have those ingredients on hand. For variety, enlighten your family with diverse cultural tastes like Italian, Asian, and Mexican. Cajun cooking is also gaining in popularity across the country, and deservedly so. It offers a medley of outstanding flavors with a subtle kick.

Spicy Chicken Salad is a Cajun-styled recipe that can be started the night before or even in the morning, easing the dinnertime stumbling blocks. Prepackaged chicken breasts and salad greens cut prep time, and cooking time is super-fast in a deep fryer.

There is a secret to good deep-frying, though. The oil needs to be hot enough to instantly seal the chicken, allowing the inside to cook to perfection without oil seeping in. Presto manufactures a line of convenient home electric deep fryers, including the popular family-size Presto® FryDaddy® deep fryer, that make deep-frying virtually fool-proof. The proper frying temperature is controlled automatically — so there's no guesswork, and oil absorption is virtually eliminated. The company also manufactures a smaller Presto® FryBaby® deep fryer and the super-size Presto® GranPappy® deep fryer for big batches and entertaining.

Take the time now to build your menu plan for next week. No matter how much you want it to be so, the freezer is not a crystal ball and ice cream is not a wise menu choice. Spicy Chicken Salad is a perfect start to the week. It's a quick, easy and light alternative to the heavy meals of the season. Best of all, it will get rave reviews from the critics at home.

For the Chicken

- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 1/2 tablespoons hot pepper sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 4 boneless, skinless chicken breasts, sliced into 3/4-inch strips

For the Seasoning

- 1/2 cup cornmeal
- 1/2 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
- 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper, or to taste
- Vegetable oil for deep-frying

For the Salad

- 4 cups salad greens of choice, washed, dried and chilled

- 2 oranges, peeled, sliced 1/4-inch thick
- 1/2 small red onion, thinly sliced
- 1/4 cup chopped chives, or 1 scallion, green and white parts, thinly sliced
- Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste
- Buttermilk and Goat Cheese Dressing

(recipe follows)

In a plastic food bag or nonreactive container, combine buttermilk, hot pepper sauce, salt and pepper. Add chicken strips, turning to coat thoroughly. Seal container and refrigerate two hours (may be marinated for up to 24 hours).

In another plastic food bag, combine cornmeal, flour and seasonings. Drop chicken strips, a few at a time, into the flour mixture. With top sealed, shake bag so strips are evenly coated. Remove from bag and place on waxed paper. Repeat with remaining chicken strips. Preheat oil in Presto® FryDaddy® electric deep fryer.

Place four to six breaded chicken strips in hot oil. Do not crowd. Fry for 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 minutes, or until golden brown. Remove from oil and place on paper towels to drain. Repeat with remaining chicken. (Chicken can be served warm or chilled.) Place chilled salad greens in a large bowl. Add orange slices, onion slices, chives, salt and pepper, 2 to 3 tablespoons Buttermilk and Goat Cheese Dressing, and gently toss. Divide among four salad bowls or plates. Arrange chicken strips on top. Serve with Buttermilk and Goat Cheese Dressing.

Buttermilk & Goat Cheese Dressing

- 3/4 cup buttermilk
- 2 ounces goat cheese
- 2 teaspoons grainy Dijon mustard
- 1 tablespoon fresh minced parsley
- 1 tablespoon fresh minced oregano
- 1 teaspoon fresh minced tarragon
- Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

Place all ingredients in bowl or food processor and mix until smooth.

Holiday shipping secrets to help last-minute Santas

The holidays are fast approaching and procrastinators everywhere are heading to the malls — or their computers — to find all the items on their gift lists before time runs out.

Even if time seems scarce, there still is a way to get the presents where they need to go — ship them!

"The holidays always are a busy time at UPS," says Mike Lulko, corporate development manager for UPS customer counters. Accustomed to handling a blizzard of packages each holiday season, UPS prepares year-round to assure the best shipping services possible during the "holidays" weeks.

Here are some last-minute shipping secrets, courtesy of UPS, to help ensure that the gifts arrive on time and intact.

- Ask the store to ship it
Consider buying from stores that can ship gifts directly. This will save time and an extra trip to the shipping counter.
- Consider catalogs
Catalogs offer a great selection and the convenience of phone or Internet ordering from the comfort of your own home.
- Go for help
If you do not have the supplies or the time, a retail shipping outlet can pack and ship your package for you.
- Keep all shipping receipts
Use the tracking number to track your package's journey via www.ups.com.
- Ship at off-peak times
Ship immediately after shopping. Also, ship Tuesday through Saturday to avoid an unnecessary wait in line as Mondays typically are the busiest days to ship.
- Ship gifts together
If you have several gifts going to the same address, pack them together. Combining gifts into the same box will help save money on shipping costs and packaging materials.
- Take your address book shopping
Taking your address book shopping will make it easy for you to fill out the shipping label with the name, address and phone number. Include a duplicate address label inside the package. If the outer label comes off, your package still can get where it has to go.

Mrs. Illinois brings in the holidays at IKEA

Preparing the home for the holidays can often be overwhelming and stressful. Do you pull out your mother-in-law's china, set the table with pine needles, or develop a special holiday color scheme theme? The possibilities seem to be endless.

Since Monica Skilling-Burk, the current Mrs. Illinois, was the IKEA "Dinner For 8 Sweepstakes" contest winner, IKEA invited Mrs. Illinois to stop by to enjoy the Sweepstakes winnings - a three-course meal at IKEA for eight and a free IKEA dining room table of her choice - and also spend some time sharing her ideas on simple solutions to holiday season table setting.

"At IKEA we understand how frustrating and expensive it can be to decorate the home for the holiday season," said Eeva Jalo, IKEA Chicago spokesperson. "Working with Mrs. Illinois to provide easy and affordable decorating ideas is our way of helping customers realize the possibilities for a beautiful home for the holidays."

Mrs. Illinois worked with IKEA to design a holiday dining room table setting that featured stylish accessories including a natural white silver-star patterned tablecloth, matte silver finish starter plates and blue glass dinner dishes. Contemporary stemware, silver brush flatware, white linen napkins and silver candleholders were used as finishing touches.

Do's and don'ts holiday table setting tips include:

- Don't feel compelled to use expensive crystal and silver; consider brightening your holiday dining table setting with seasonal fruits, chestnuts and foliage.
- Do add color to your holiday table according to your guest - for you and your spouse consider candlelight, for a family and children create place settings using a small picture frames with an appropriate image for your guest's personality.

sider candlelight, for a family and children create place settings using a small picture frames with an appropriate image for your guest's personality.

Eat your holiday dinner in style - At IKEA, Mrs. Illinois, Monica Skilling-Burk, shares tips on how to create the perfect holiday table setting. For more information, please contact Jeanette Chin at Jericho Communications (212) 645-6900 ext. 127.

Illinois Chamber Symphony presents 'Christmas Around the World'

The Illinois Chamber Symphony is pleased to present its holiday presentation of "Christmas Around the World" on Dec. 11, at 7 p.m. in the Norris Cultural Arts Center, 1040 Dunham Rd., St. Charles.

Highlights scheduled for this magnificent celebration are The Swan of Tuonela by Sibelius, Stille Nacht by Gruber and selections from the glorious Messiah by Handel. Dancers from local dance studios will join the orchestra in a lively romp through selections from Tchaikovsky's ever popular strings will be heard in Fantasia on

Greensleeves by Ralph Vaughan Williams.

Other tasty holiday surprises are in store for the entire family in this concert. As the Illinois Chamber Symphony enters the millennium with class, let this glorious assortment of holiday "goodies" renew your faith in the season and in the goodness of humanity through some of the most precious masterworks ever written to commemorate this season.

The Illinois Chamber Symphony is pleased to welcome Maestro Michael Beert to the podium for this concert. A native of Rockford, he is the current conductor of the Rockford Youth Symphony and the highly acclaimed Rock Valley College Orchestra. Maestro Beert has also conducted the Illinois Valley Symphony Orchestra and the Rock Valley Music Consortium.

Tickets are $28.50 for adults, $15 for children ages 14 and under, special discounts for seniors. Call Norris Cultural Arts Center Box Office at (630) 584-7200, ext. 10.

The history of Christmas gift and card exchanges

From candy canes to brightly decorated gingerbread houses to Santa Claus on every street corner, the holiday season brings some wonderful things. However, it also ushers in many time-consuming tasks—cooking the holiday meal, picking out the Christmas tree, and especially, buying the perfect gifts for loved ones and writing out holiday cards to faraway friends and family members.

Have you ever wondered about the origin of exchanging gifts and cards? According to Donald E. Dossey, Ph.D., author of "Holiday Folklore, Phobias and Fun" (Outcomes Unlimited Press Inc.), by the 12th century, the practice of giving gifts had become common on Christmas, as well as on New Year's Day.

"It was believed to have come from the scriptural account, in Matthew 2:11, of the Three Magi who offered gold, frankincense, and myrrh to the Christ Child," says Dossey.

The origin of sending Christmas cards, he says, began in England. "Edna Barth in 'Holly, Reindeer, and Colored Lights: The Story of Christmas Symbols,' says that in England, schoolboys away from home sent Christmas letters to their parents." The letters were printed on paper that had Bible scenes on it, written in their best penmanship. In the hopes of receiving money and gifts, they would tell their parents of their progress at school.

It was in 1839, after the introduction of the penny post in England, that the true Christmas card tradition of sending cards to loved ones developed. "One thousand copies of the card designed for Sir Henry Cole were sold. Usually regarded as the first of its kind, it was made by J.C. Horsley, a member of the Royal Academy," says Dossey. In spite of its success, the custom did not become widespread in America until after the English royal family began sending cards.

Superstitions and folklore have a way of patterning our lives—from avoiding black cats to walking around ladders.

Christmas is a time for cheer, but it also is filled with lots of folklore. The following "Christmas Magic" is courtesy of "Holiday Folklore, Phobias and Fun" (Outcomes Unlimited Press Inc.), by Donald E. Dossey, Ph.D.

•Roasting chestnuts in a open fire, named for the available persons you know is a great divination ploy. The first one that pops will be the one you marry.

•If you do any household repairs on Christmas Day, the trouble will not be cured and even may get worse.

•Hang a sprig of mistletoe over the door. It will chase away the evil spirits and bring good luck.

•If you were born on Christmas Day, your life will be a happy and healthy one.

•Eat plenty of pies on Christmas. It is believed to bring good luck.

Navy Pier rings in the New Year with Chicago-style fun

Navy Pier is the place to celebrate New Year's Eve and start the New Year! From an exciting Family Fun Festival to big band dancing and a rock-n-roll ball to Chicago's giant Ferris wheel countdown and a spectacular fireworks display, there's something for everyone to welcome the new year at Navy Pier.

Visitors of all ages are invited to join the Pier in welcoming the year 2000 while enjoying some of the best entertainment around, all in one safe location. The celebration begins on Dec. 31 at 4 p.m. and continues until 12 a.m. and features a giant Chicago-style Ferris wheel countdown to 200, followed by a festive fireworks display set to an exciting Millennium soundtrack featuring from the past century.

Family Fun Festival

Families will find something for all ages as Navy Pier's Festival Hall B will be transformed into a Family Fun Festival on New Year's Eve. Featuring a multitude of activities and games, the 56,700 square-foot exhibition hall will be divided into several different activity zones, creating an indoor playground to please all ages.

For those with energy to burn before midnight, a game center will offer a variety of activities, including a giant slide, climbing wall, velcro obstacle, gladiator joust, bungee run and golf range. And, a demonstration area will entertain all ages with tumbling and dance performances, and much more.

Festival Hall B will be hopping with musical entertainment options as well. At the Main Stage, a disc jockey will be spinning favorite tunes from the past and present, from 4 p.m. - 6 p.m., allowing the whole family to brush up on their dance moves. As the clock ticks closer to midnight, families will be rockin' to the sounds of local favorite BBI from 8 p.m. - 11:45 p.m.

The Pier will also present the "Millennium Mile," a fun-filled arts-please see Navy Pier page E14

Pops plans candlelight concert to warm up the holidays

Start the holiday celebration early with the Holiday Candlelight Concert from 8-12 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 5 at Pops for Champagne, 2934 Sheffield Ave., Chicago, featuring the Brad Williams Group.

This jazzy seasonal concert with Bradley Williams and his 6-piece ensemble, "The 21st Century Review is sure to

WXRT "Rock n' Roll Ball"

Adults looking for a rockin' way to ring in the Millennium will find just that in Festival Hall A as the Pier host the 27th Annual WXRT New Year's Eve Rock n' Roll Ball. Visitors will be rockin' to the sounds of headline acts The BoDeans and Matthew Sweet. A third headline band will be announced soon. For tickets and information, call (312) 836-5900.

Crystal Countdown

Phil Stefani Restaurants will once again host its popular "Crystal Countdown" in the glass-enclosed Crystal Gardens. Featuring big band dancing to the sounds of Nancy Hays and the Robert Benson Orchestra, the "Crystal Countdown" continues to be a Chicago favorite for ringing in the New Year. Information and tickets for the "Crystal Countdown" are available by calling (312) 595-5441.

Ferris wheel countdown and fireworks

The final ten seconds of 1999 will be marked by a bright, lighting display on the Navy Pier Ferris wheel. Ten rings of beaming light, disappearing one-by-one, will count the final ten seconds of 1999. The disappearance of the inner ring will mark the arrival of the year 2000 and set off Navy Pier's elaborate fireworks display and Ferris wheel light spectacular, set to a millennium-themed soundtrack.

January 1 & 2

But, the party doesn't end at Midnight! Families are invited to "Start the Year at Navy Pier" with a host of free family programming on Saturday and Sunday, January 1st and 2nd. In addition, programming will conclude on January 1 with a New Year's Day fireworks display, choreographed to all-time family favorites, at 6 p.m.

Polish tradition and more at the Lira Holiday Gala

The Lira Ensemble's 18th annual "Polish-American Christmas Gala" offers new medleys of Polish and American carols, folk songs from both cultures, as well as traditional favorites and folk dances. This festive show, which also features popular sing-alongs, will be presented Sunday, Dec., 5 at 3 p.m. at Morton East Auditorium, 2401 South Austin Blvd. in Cicero.

AT&T is the national sponsor of this year's Galas which draw audiences in the thousands in four Midwest states and have won the highest praise for critics. All music at Lira concerts is live, not pre-recorded. Audiences are able to enjoy a truly live performance, including a 14-piece orchestra. The afternoon will also include demonstrations of Polish holiday customs.

The "Polish-American Christmas Gala" features the entire Lira family of 70

young performers appearing in authentic, brightly colored costumes - the Lira female ensemble, the Lira Chamber Chorus of both female and male voices, the Lira Dancers and the Lira Children's Chorus, all accompanied by the Lira Chamber Orchestra. These five units comprise the Lira Ensemble - America's only professional performing arts company specializing in Polish music, song and dance. The company is based at Loyola University's Lake Shore Campus as artist-in-residence.
